HAVANA, Aug. 10.—(P)—Condemnation of mediation efforts by United States Ambassador Sumner Welles in Cuba's political turmoil was voted today by the executive committee of the liberal party of which President Machado is the chief.

The motion of condemnation was presented by Orestes Ferrara, secretary of state, who arrived in Havana yesterday after a long absence at London for the world economic conference.

The conservative and popular parties having announced their support of the plan sponsored by Ambassador Welles which calls upon President Machado, center of political strife for several years, to quit his post, the crisis in the island appeared to be moving swiftly toward a climax when the liberal group adopted the contrary position.

The liberal chiefs declared the activities of the American envoy were prejudicial to Cuba's sovereignty, and declared themselves in permanent session. They named a commission composed of the president of the senate, the president of the house, and the president of their party to keep them informed of developments in the feverish situation.

Confers With Ferrara.
Ambassador Welles had a conference today with Secretary Ferrara before the action of the liberal executive body which came after several hours of debate behind closed doors.

Later, Mr. Welles told newspapermen his efforts in Cuba, now in progress for several weeks, had the complete support of President Roosevelt who so informed the Cuban ambassador yesterday.

The normal activities of the island are largely tied up by strikes which continued unabated today, increasing the anxiety with regard to the capital's food supply.

The army remained on duty in Havana where it was posted last evening in execution of the president's decree declaring a state of war for the entire country.

President Machado told the Associated Press today that he had not changed his mind and his purpose to lend every support to the constitutional reforms, a program of which has been worked out by Cuban political leaders under the guidance of Ambassador Welles.

"Matter of Routine."
The state of war had no special purpose or significance, the president

MACHADO'S ENVOY RETURNS TO CUBA

Starts Home After Long
Conversation With Hull;
Is Not Retiring.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—After a long conference with Secretary Hull, Ambassador Oscar B. Cintas of Cuba, hurriedly packed for home tonight, as authoritative word was passed that he had not been threatened with American intervention to restore peace in the island republic.

State department officials still cling to the hope that mediation would bring peace to troubled Cuba, and denied reports preparations were being made for intervention by the United States.

The Cuban embassy said Cintas would leave early tomorrow morning by train and reach Havana Saturday. He had planned to fly, but bad weather clearly dented their optimism.

A spokesman for the embassy said no importance should be attached to the ambassador's trip because he was merely going home to study the situation and had no special mission.

There was no indication, after the conference between Cintas and Hull, that President Machado had yielded to demands from Cuban political leaders for his retirement, which this government had hoped would solve the problem.

Officials here were working constantly on the Cuban situation through contact with Welles and the summer White House at Hyde Park, but the continued resistance of Machado, in the opinion here.

Mr. Roosevelt received firm assurance of united support in his determination for better days on the island republic—including armed intervention, if necessary—from Representative Fish, of New York, ranking republican on the house foreign affairs committee.

After his talk at the summer White House, Fish asserted that the resignation of President Machado is "absolutely necessary." His declaration was regarded as interpreting Mr. Roosevelt's view, but the president said nothing beyond his formal statement of last night appealing for an end to political trouble on a patriotic basis.

Definite Plan.
There is no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt has a definite plan in mind, and he is confident of its fulfillment. It is obvious he expects President Ma-

U. S. Photographer Is Held by Cuba

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—The state department today drafted a telegram instructing American Ambassador Welles at Havana to investigate the imprisonment of David Oliver, an American news photographer.

Reports to the state department said Oliver had been beaten and jailed although he carried a government permit to make pictures. The service for which he worked is an adjunct of the Chicago Daily News. The Washington bureau of the News asked the investigation.

Oliver was released after being held four hours. He declared he was threatened by soldiers' guns and all his photographic equipment was seized.

Machado Won't Leave Cuba; To Quit Only on Party Request

President Says He Wants To Die on Island and Will Resign Only if Own Party
Says He Should.

(Editor's Note: Shortly after President Machado had given out the following interview, the executive committee of the liberal party shortly criticized Ambassador Sumner Welles' efforts at mediation, rejecting his plan for settlement of the current strife. Since Welles' plan called for Machado's resignation, it is expected that the president now definitely will refuse to give up his post.)

By LAWRENCE HAAS.
(Copyright, 1933, by United Press.)
HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 10.—(P)—President Gerardo Machado told the United Press tonight that he was ready to resign as president if the liberal party, to which he belongs, asked him to do so.

"I do not recognize the eventuality of North American intervention in Cuba, which would not be founded on any justification or cause," he said in an exclusive interview with the United Press. President Machado declared, however, that he had no intention of leaving Cuba.

He said he was ready to withdraw only if and when the liberals urged him to do so for the good of the nation.

"I am absolutely indisposed to leave my country," Machado added, dramatically. "I want to live and die here."

Leave of Absence.
A movement has been under way, led by his opposition, to force his withdrawal from office on an enforced leave of absence.

Machado made his statement in response to questions submitted to him.

The mayor announced that he would submit for the approval of the NRA in Washington a new schedule measure, which would set a new schedule for grocers calling for opening at 6:30 a. m. and closing at 6:30 p. m. with the time extended to 8 o'clock on Saturdays.

Haircut for 25 Cents Barred by Injunction

An injunction restraining an Atlanta barber from cutting hair at a price lower than that charged by other shops which have signed the barbers' NRA code was granted Thursday afternoon by Judge E. D. Thomas. The man, J. W. Vandhitch, operator of the Empire barber shop at 50 Georgia avenue, will be forced to charge 40 cents per haircut, according to the court order.

Warren Cox, attorney for the Atlanta Master Barbers' Association, secured the injunction, the first regulation by a court of such prices.

In signing the code, 243 barber shops in the city, including the Empire, agreed to charge 40 cents on haircuts in order to pay barbers a minimum wage of $14.50 a week. The Empire shop offered unsocial services at 25 cents, causing unfair competition, according to officials of the barbers' association.

The injunction was granted by Judge E. D. Thomas, who said he was "satisfied that the public must buy now."

"It must buy under the blue eagle and it must buy to the full of its reasonable and prudent needs," he added. "It cannot be otherwise. To support increased wages there must be increased business. To get increased business there must be increased buying. Increased wages depend on increased buying and we can't have one without the other and that is as certain as that two and two make four."

The point about buying under the blue eagle is just as certain and just as simple. Increased wages come from blue eagle employers only. Blue eagle employers cannot continue increased wages if public patronage goes to their competitors who have no blue eagles.

"Failure to support blue eagle employers is failure to support increased wages and re-employment."

With every available official of the NRA concentrated upon the single objective of bringing industries under modified re-employment agreements regulating hours and wages by September 1—the date now set tentatively for clamping on pressure—attorneys for hosiery manufacturers challenged the legality of the recovery act's labor provisions.

The question was raised by David R. Clark, a Chicago lawyer, while other hearings were proceeding on permanent codes for the bituminous coal, legitimate theater, underwear, and knitting machinery industries.

BAITMORE, Aug. 10.—(P)—Making an appeal to the nation to "buy now" in stores under the wing of the NRA's blue eagle, Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, tonight lent his personal support to Baltimore's campaign to swing every employer in the city into line. He called directly upon the consumers to start at once patronizing those firms which are fulfilling the program of raising wages and spreading employment to increase purchasing power and denied the plan which he is directing evasions a "boycott."

Turning again to his promise to employers that buying would be stimulated to take care of the increased wages which they are asked to pay, Johnson said "the public must buy now."

"It must buy under the blue eagle and it must buy to the full of its reasonable and prudent needs," he added. "It cannot be otherwise. To support increased wages there must be increased business. To get increased business there must be increased buying. Increased wages depend on increased buying and we can't have one without the other and that is as certain as that two and two make four."

National Restaurant Code Wins Johnson's Approval

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—General Johnson today approved modified re-employment agreements for the restaurant and hotel manufacturing industries, permitting employees who comply with the wage and hour provisions fixed to receive the blue eagle.

The scale for restaurant employees placed them under a flat minimum wage, exclusive of the tips they receive.

The agreement provided a maximum work week of 54 hours for male employees and 48 for female, with wages ranging from 28 cents an hour in cities above 500,000 down to 23 cents an hour in towns of less than 2,500. In addition, a differential of 2 cents per hour was fixed for Alabama, Ar-

Atlanta's peace-time patriotism flamed high Thursday night at the city auditorium in a mass meeting of citizens who flung themselves into the anti-depression tidal wave of NRA with resolutions urging consumers to patronize Blue Eagle establishments which faithfully carry out all terms of the president's agreement and pledging whole-hearted support of the Roosevelt recovery program.

Responding to the battle cry of "Roosevelt and Recovery," which bids fair to become as familiar a household slogan as "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too," Atlantans at the huge city auditorium heard nationally known speakers, including Frederick V. Fisher, of Washington, personal representative of General Hugh Johnson; Carter D. Poland, of Annapolis, Md., NRA speaker, and W. C. Cram, representative of L. W. Robert Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of public works.

Observing that the nation is following in the footsteps of Thomas Jefferson, Mr. Fisher, who is well known in Atlanta through his visits to this city, told the audience that "the Declaration of Independence is now being written, and it is a document which will thrill and save America."

General Johnson, the man of the hour, a combination of Andrew Jackson, of hickory fame; Theodore Roosevelt, of the vim and push, and Franklin Roosevelt, of the smile, and Mr. Fisher said, "We must pull together, as part-

For New Freedom.
"The people of America are now engaged in writing a new constitution for a new freedom," Mr. Fisher said, appealing to Atlantans to push aside timidity and join the parade of NRA. "It was the timidity of the plain, modest businessman that hindered us in the war," he said. "The parade is now on. Those who do not have the blue eagle, the little man's heel on the big man's neck, but who want nobody's heel on anybody's neck."

AP TERRORISTS BLAME U. S. GREED IN INUKAI MURDER

TOKYO, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Lieutenant Horishi Yamagishi, leader of 10 naval officers undergoing court-martial charged with the assassination of Premier Sogoshi Inukai and other terrorist acts, testified today that fears of "America's ambition" motivated the terrorists.

Testimony was produced to show that Yamagishi commanded the naval officers who invaded the premier's residence, and that he gave the command "fire" which loosed the fatal shots.

After he had made an anti-American statement, the courtroom was ordered cleared and the hearings continued in secret. The proceedings are being held at the Yokosuka naval base.

The lieutenant declared that he and the other officers feared the United States would attempt what he called further domination of Japan and the orient in 1936, when revision of the Washington and London naval treaties is due.

He testified that his group determined to "attempt the reconstruction of the empire before that crisis arose."

The testimony of the lieutenant formed the keynote of all the evidence heard thus far in the naval trial, of which today's session was the eleventh.

VENICE, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Gene Malin, entertainer at a club known as the Ship Cafe, was killed today when his automobile slipped off the Venice pier into four feet of water.

Patsy Kelly, 22, described as having been brought to the coast from New York by a major movie producer, was removed from the machine unconscious, but a cursory examination disclosed no broken bones. A roommate of Malin's, Jimmy Foreman, 34, another passenger in the car, received a fractured collarbone.

President Hartford Wires Johnson First Week Shows 8,340 More at Work.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, yesterday wired General Johnson that his company is "wholeheartedly in favor of the NRA" and is and will continue to give the NRA its complete co-operation.

Mr. Hartford told General Johnson that since the A&P joined the NRA August 1, preliminary figures for the first week's operation show that 8,340 employees were added to the company's staff. The increase in annual pay roll amounted to $8,264,152, the figures show, Mr. Hartford said.

His telegram to General Johnson follows: "Confirming my telephone conversation this morning I wish to repeat my former assurances to you that the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is wholeheartedly in favor of the NRA and is giving and will continue to give your administration its complete co-operation. All of our branches throughout the country were instructed on August 1 to put into effect the purposes of the NRA as quickly as possible, and I am pleased to be able to tell you that preliminary figures for the first week's operation of our business under the NRA show 8,340 employees added to our staff and an increase of $8,264,152 in annual pay roll. We hope the readjustment will be complete throughout our organization within a few days. This will of course increase these figures."

Professor Must Find Out What To Do With Land Taken Out of Production

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—What to do with the 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 acres of land which Secretary Wallace plans to take out of the production of wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco and other crops was delegated today to a Michigan professor for decision.

Farm administrators selected J. F. Cox, former dean of Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, to head a section of crop replacement. He will assist farmers who agree to retire lands from the production of basic crops in return for benefit payments, as part of the program of a retreat in agricultural production.

Cox will seek to stimulate the planting of trees and pastures, projects to stop soil erosion, and the planting of crops which will help rebuild soils to preserve the potential productive capacities of farm lands.

Cox faces this puzzle—the lands taken out of production must be used only for growing crops for home consumption and which will not add to surpluses, and surpluses are now being produced of nearly everything.

Cox believes that large areas could be planted to blue grass and other pasture crops, that there is a shortage of horses and mules. But the pasture may not be used to feed cows because dairymen insist that they, too, be protected against overproduction.

In the plains states, Cox plans to stimulate tree planting, especially windbreaks and woodlots, and visualize possibilities of increasing humidity in semi-arid regions, where rains during crop seasons are rarely sufficient.

Anti-administration candidates apparently had captured five democratic tricts in the primary to assure the democratic party control of the 1934 senate.

BUSINESS INCREASES,
35 NEW MEN ADDED

Another optimistic note was struck in President Roosevelt's plan for business recovery when Shelby C. Jones, vice president and general manager of the Welch Grape Juice Company, Westfield, N. Y., reported that due to the general improvement in business conditions throughout the country and to the largest advertising campaign the company ever put on, the company's business has shown a phenomenal increase. It added 35 new men to the sales staff in the last six weeks.

HOOVER DODGES PARTY ON 59TH BIRTHDAY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, 59 years old today, left his home on the campus for a three to four-day motor trip in the California Sierras, dodging possible celebrations.

The occasion did not pass unnoticed, however. Scores of letters and telegrams reached the former executive.

Mr. Hoover was accompanied only by Mrs. Hoover.

13,000 VOTERS ON LIST
FOR COMING PRIMARY

Registration Drive Pushed.
Special Registrars Located in Various Wards.

A total of approximately 13,000 voters Thursday were registered for the municipal primary September 20 as the Atlanta League of Women Voters and 40 allied organizations continued the drive for a heavy registration. Registration closes at noon Saturday, August 19.

J. Henson Tatum, city clerk and registrar, will continue throughout the week sending registrars to various points of vantage throughout the city as a convenience to citizens.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore, who has been out of the city but who registered at one of the temporary registration booths established by Tatum Thursday, issued the following statement:

"It was a splendid idea to have deputies placed in the various wards for the added convenience of busy people and because I had to be away. I was one who took advantage of the opportunity to register in my own ward."

Tatum announced the following registration points outside the city hall for today and Saturday:

Today—Fifth ward, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Pierce's Drug store, 790 Marietta street; Seventh ward, 12 noon to 6 p. m., Chitt's Drug store, 1221 Gordon street, corner Locust avenue; Eighth ward, 1 p. m. to 6 p. m., Jacob's Drug store, Parkside hotel; Eleventh ward, 9 a. m. to 12 noon, Woodland Pharmacy, 820 Woodland avenue; 8 p. m. to 10 p. m., Pierce street and Stewart avenue; Eleventh ward, 12 noon to 6 p. m., Best Atlanta bank, 520 First Street.

Saturday—Sixth ward, 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., Capitol theater entrance, Peachtree street, next to Henry Grady hotel; Tenth ward, 1 p. m. to 6 p. m., Pierce street and Stewart avenue; Eleventh ward, 12 noon to 6 p. m., Pierce street and Stewart avenue; Eleventh ward, 12 noon to 6 p. m., Pierce street and Stewart avenue; Eleventh ward, 12 noon to 6 p. m., Pierce street and Stewart avenue.

RADIO-REFRIGERATOR
SHIPMENTS INCREASE

Harry Lever, vice president of the Capital Electric Company, Majestic distributors, reports the following conversation with Le Roi J. Williams, vice president and general manager of Grigsby-Grunow Company, manufacturers of Majestic radios and refrigerators:

"In the month of July," said Mr. Williams, "29,777 radio receiving sets and refrigerators were shipped from our plants. These shipments were not equalled in any month this year except June."

"Refrigerator shipments for July were more than seven times those of July of last year, and while July of 1932 was the lowest radio month for the year, July radio shipments for this year have been exceeded only by June—our peak record for almost two years."

Television Ready for National Use
When Capital Is Found, Says Expert

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Television is technically ready for broadcasting but its launching on a basis akin to radio will require quite an outlay of capital, J. B. McCargar, president of Television Laboratories, Ltd., stated upon his return from a six weeks visit in the east.

McCargar said that his company, which has been pioneering in cathode ray tube television development, has arranged for the establishment of laboratories in Philadelphia.

As to the immediate future of television, McCargar gave it as his present opinion that air picture transmission will tend definitely toward the ultra short-wave channels of about 25 to 50 miles.

Recent experiments appear, he said, to have established that the maximum distance of television in the ultra short waves is about 75 miles.

For some time to come then, he predicts, television will be on a regional basis, but if business conditions continue to improve "there is no logical reason why commercial television should not be launched in the near future."

"In its present stage of development, television is much farther along from the point of view of home entertainment than radio was when it was introduced," he added.

The television laboratories' process was largely the development of Phil T. Farnsworth, Brigham Young University youth who at 22 had designed his first cathode ray tubes for both transmission and reception with electrical scanning. The last two years Farnsworth has been conducting experiments for a Philadelphia radio set manufacturer.

Pictures and sound can both be broadcast over the same wave channels making it possible, McCargar says, to build combined television and radio sets at a reasonable outlay.

Itinerant Killed.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Ted Carroll, 20-year-old itinerant from Luxor, Ark., was killed last night when he fell beneath the wheels of a moving freight train. Police at Carroll, en route west, had just arrived here from El Paso.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—(AP) John J. Raskob, of New York, financial backer of the democratic party during the presidential campaign of Alfred E. Smith, paused on a vacation trip here today to commend the "intelligent leadership" of President Roosevelt.

"The American people are co-operating with him unitedly," he said, "to get rid of the depression."

LOUISIANA WILL ACT

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Assurance that Louisiana will act upon national prohibition repeal was given today by Governor Oscar K. Allen, but he declined to say when such action was planned.

The governor merely confirmed an assertion by State Senator Fred W. Oser, of New Orleans, ardent repeal advocate, that a special legislative session would be held to permit Louisiana to vote on the repeal.

THREE MEALS A DAY

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES

by Sally Saver

One of the most delightful of the fresh vegetables is green corn. And, except for fresh green peas, it is the one vegetable of all that quickly loses its sweetness and flavor in direct relation to the interval between picking and eating. Housewives who must purchase corn in the city markets can never fully enjoy the sweetness of corn that is cooked and eaten within 15 minutes after picking.

Corn-on-the-cob is one of America's traditions. In most European countries people think of it as a food fit for animals only, and thereby miss much gastronomic enjoyment. Corn is an excellent food, containing protein and fat in addition to carbohydrate and roughage. Its vitamin content and mineral make-up are also good. Whether a person eats Country Gentleman or Golden Bantam is simply a matter of preference, for both varieties and many others, too, are delicious.

In addition to serving corn-on-the-cob, there are a great many other ways of preparing it. These recipes are just as useful for left-overs as they are for freshly picked corn. Try them either way, but save them the corn is brown, then turn the cakes and brown them on the other side. Serve as a vegetable with the meat course.

Fresh Corn Fritters.
Two cups corn cut from cob, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, pepper if desired, 1 tablespoon fat, melted; 1-4 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder.

Add all ingredients except flour and baking powder to the corn. Combine flour and baking powder, then add to first mixture, stirring until smooth. Melt some fat in frying pan, drop batter into the hot fat by tablespoons, fry on both sides until brown. These may also be fried in hot deep fat if preferred. Drain on paper and serve immediately. Some people like to serve maple syrup with these fritters, others prefer them plain with the meat course.

Fresh Corn Souffle.
Make a white sauce of 1-4 cup butter, 1-4 cup flour and 2-3 cup milk. Add 1 cup cooked corn, 3 beaten egg yolks, 1-4 cup grated cheese, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 3 beaten egg whites.

Combine, adding the stiffly beaten egg whites last and pour into greased baking dish. Bake in moderate 350 degree oven about 45 minutes, serve hot.

Fried Fresh Corn.
Three cups cooked fresh corn, 2 green peppers, chopped; 1-2 cup onion, 3 tablespoons bacon fat. Brown the onion and pepper in the bacon fat, add the corn and seasonings, cook until slightly browned. Serve as the vegetable with the meat course.

Fresh Succotash.
Corn cut from 6 ears corn, raw; 1 pint fresh lima beans, shelled; 1 large diced potato, raw; 1-4 pound piece bacon, cut in rice; 2 quarts water, 1 tablespoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Place all ingredients together in a soup kettle, bring to a boil, then let simmer about 3 hours. Serve in a saucepan and add the potatoes and boiling water to it and cook till potatoes are soft. Then add the milk and corn, heat to the boiling point. Season with salt and pepper. Moisten the crackers in a little cold milk, serve them on top of the chowder.

Delicious Fresh Corn Chowder.
Place 1 sliced onion, 4 potatoes cut in 3-4 inch slices, 2 cups corn cut from cob, cooked; 1 quart milk, 8 crackers, salt and pepper.

Peel and core five medium-sized cooking apples and cut them into eighths. Sift together one-half cup each sugar and flour and roll the pieces of apple in it. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The names of 70 of 128 employees of the prohibition department in the fifth district today were dropped from the pay roll in the reorganization of the department with the department of justice or other agencies of the government, according to a message received by R. E. Tuttle, district administrator.

ALLEGED FORGER HELD IN N. Y. FOR FLORIDA

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Jeriben Seeman, 38, of Brooklyn, was held today on a governor's warrant issued by Lieutenant Governor William Bray at the request of the chief of police of Jacksonville, Fla.

Seeman is charged with four others with obtaining $121,000 from the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville in 1932, through passing forged checks.

Grocer's Code Is Accepted By Volunteer Stores Group

Henry King, president of King, Dobbs & Co., Chattanooga jobbers; H. A. Sewell, first vice president of Kelley Brothers Co., Atlanta jobbers, and A. E. Kelley, president of Kelley Brothers, leading figures at a meeting of Volunteer store members who heard Mr. King read and interpret the grocer's NRA code.

The code of fair competition for food and grocery distributors, as recently approved in Washington, was presented to the members of the Volunteer stores' organization at a meeting on Wednesday night at Stone's bakery.

The code was read by Henry King, president of King, Dobbs & Co., Chattanooga jobbers and sponsors of the Volunteer group there. Mr. King is committee chairman of the National and Wholesale Grocers' Association, and was in conference with the recovery board in Washington. Mr. King interpreted the code at Wednesday's meeting, and answered questions. He was introduced by Charlie Muse, of the Volunteer organization.

At the conclusion of the reading and interpretation, the members of the Volunteer group, one of the outstanding ones in the industry, approved the code. The entire membership of the organization was present or represented.

Following are the main provisions of the code: Working hours shall be 48 a week, stores to be kept open 52 hours or more. Stores employing less than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population are exempt.

Employees making $35 or more, also out-salesmen and deliverymen, are not subject to hours.

In Atlanta the minimum wage must be $13.50 a week, and in cities between 2,500 and 250,000, $13. This figure is $1 less in the south than in other sections. Employees with less than six months' experience will receive a dollar less.

None may be employed under 16 except for three hours a day, and this not conflicting with school attendance.

The meeting was well attended, and Mr. King was given close attention as he read and interpreted the code. He said that his committee, after a long session in New York, spent four days and nights in Washington, including last Sunday, in working out the details.

A. E. Kelley, president of the Kelley Brothers Company, who sponsor the Volunteer organization in Atlanta, spoke, praising the code and what it stood for.

Francis E. Kamper, president of the C. J. Kamper Grocery Company, who was a guest, praised Mr. King

RANSOM BILLS LISTED FOR OKLAHOMA BANKS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 10.—(AP) J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, today sent to Oklahoma City banks a list of the serial numbers of $196,620 in federal reserve notes paid "as ransom in kidnappings."

How much of this sum was paid for the release of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire, was a matter for conjecture.

All the currency listed was issued by the Kansas City Federal Reserve bank, however. Officers pointed out it was unlikely that all ransom money paid in other kidnappings cases would have been from the Kansas City bank.

of its groups, including Atlanta's, is now approximately $100,000,000.

The meeting Wednesday was not only an informative one, but was marked by the enthusiasm of its members.

"Keep cool with crisp, light foods"

EVERY ONE has had the experience of eating a heavy meal on a hot day and of feeling loggy and uncomfortable afterwards. In truth, food plays a big part in how we feel.

Countless mothers serve Kellogg's Corn Flakes for the children's evening meal—particularly in summer. It's the kind of light meal that encourages restful sleep.

And no matter how hot or humid the weather, you'll always find Kellogg's crisp and oven-fresh... protected by the sealed inside WAXTITE bag. Every package that leaves Battle Creek is guaranteed.

Electricity is a WORKER. It is energy that saves your energy, saves you steps, saves you the back-breaking toil of lifting and carrying. If you paid this worker by the day, with every important little job separately itemized, your bill would be something like the one above.

These are the average "wages" paid by Georgia homes for the jobs electricity does. They may vary slightly from home to home, depending on the amount of service used. But they are so small, they prove again that—

Electric service does MORE work, on LONGER hours, at a LOWER wage, than any help you ever hired!

Make your home more comfortable, brighter, pleasanter by getting real use of your electric service. Its cost is so very small that no family in Georgia need be denied full enjoyment of its many advantages.

ONE-MAN STREET CAR OPERATION APPROVED

Ordinance Requiring Two Platform Men Not Valid, Says Special Master.

Atlanta's 1931 city ordinance requiring two-man operation of street cars within the fire limits is not valid and is unconstitutional, James A. Branch, special master, reported Thursday to federal court after hearing evidence in a suit brought by the Georgia Power Company to restrain enforcement of the ordinance, now subject to a temporary injunction.

The city has 20 days in which to file exceptions to the report, and, if no exceptions are filed within that time, the report is confirmed. If exceptions are filed, Judge E. Marvin Underwood will hear arguments in the case, it was said.

Special Master Branch found from the evidence that "the one-man safety type car is safer than the two-man type car," and expressed belief that "presence of the extra man on the car through the fire limits would not add materially to the safety of the operation so far as passengers boarding and leaving the cars are concerned."

Branch found that there have been fewer complaints of racial trouble and disturbances among passengers than when the cars were operated as two-man cars. "Unnecessary restrictions may not be imposed under the guise of protecting the public interest," Branch said. "The ordinance is not a necessary police regulation for the preservation of the rights of the public."

FT. BENNING BOWLERS ACCEPT LEAGUE OFFER

The post bowling team of the Infantry school, Fort Benning, Ga., champions of the Tri-City Bowling league, have been invited to join the Inter-City Bowling league by John C. Bell, secretary of the Atlanta Bowling Association.

Two teams of five men each will be entered by each city in the league, which is to be composed of bowling organizations from Atlanta, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Gadsden and Fort Benning. The first match has been tentatively scheduled for September 16.

The Infantry school team was extended the invitation as a result of the bowling record the team made in the Atlanta bowling tournament, which they entered last winter. Sergeant E. J. Trotter, in charge of the post bowling alleys, is temporarily in charge of arrangements for Benning's entry into the league.

Georgia-Written Plays By O'Neill Sent North

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Two new plays written by Eugene O'Neill at his home at Sea Island, Ga., have been sent to the Theater Guild here and placed on the guild's production schedule for the next season.

"Ah, Wilderness," the first play, is described as a folk play which takes place shortly after the turn of this century. The second, "Days Without End," is called by O'Neill a modern miracle play.

200 WORKERS ADDED TO SEARS PERSONNEL

An indication of the extent to which some firms are co-operating 100 per cent in supporting the national recovery act of the president is shown by the record of Sears, Roebuck & Co., who, during the past few weeks have employed approximately 200 persons in their retail and mail order departments, and adjusted all working days on a 40-hour per week basis.

"Every individual in the retail department is being given one full day off each week in order to bring his or her working hours to the 40-hour per week basis," said P. D. MacQuiston, manager of the retail store.

As a result of this adjustment, Mr. MacQuiston pointed out, 25 persons have been employed in the retail store, and salaries have been adjusted in accordance with the president's code. "In arriving at this minimum," Mr. MacQuiston said, "very little adjusting of salaries had to be done, as most of our employees have been paid salaries the equal to or in excess of those stipulated in the president's code."

The opening hours of the retail store remain the same, from 9 to 5:30 o'clock on week days, and from 9 to 9 on Saturdays.

Approximately 175 new persons have been employed in the mail order plant according to the figures given out by J. C. Grabbe, general manager, and all salaries and working hours have been adjusted in accordance with the NRA code.

Many of these new employees, Mr. Grabbe pointed out, were put on the pay roll as far back as six weeks ago. "This was done in anticipation of the national recovery act," Mr. Grabbe said, "and with the definite knowledge that Sears, Roebuck & Co. would participate 100 per cent. We simply started our employment ahead of time in order not to be rushed at the last moment, and in order to be in full swing under the new code at the proper time."

Both executives voiced their approval of the NRA program, expressing the willingness of Sears-Roebuck to participate and indicating their belief that through the measures of the act, business would witness a steady return to normalcy and prosperity. Sears-Roebuck retail and mail order departments throughout the country, it was stated, are participating 100 per cent in the NRA program.

REQUEST FOR TROOPS DENIED BY TALMADGE

A request for state troops to patrol the area of Cedartown, where 600 mill employees are on strike, was denied Thursday by Governor Talmadge on the grounds that it had not been submitted to him by a sheriff or judge of a court.

Everett Thomas, of Cedartown, phoned the governor asking him to declare martial law. Mill hands struck last week because of hours and wage conditions, it was said. The strikers' committee said increased wages were canceled when mill officials raised house rent. Federal officers are expected to investigate the charge.

NEGRO TO CONDUCT SONG TEST SUNDAY

James Gordon McPherson, called "The Black Billy Sunday," who has been in Atlanta for the past three weeks conducting a ministry campaign, will close the services at the city auditorium at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A jubilee song festival will be held.

McPherson is credited with being the original character "De Lawd" in the American drama, "Green Pastures," and Marc Connelly's inspiration in the creation of the play. He urges that white friends attend Sunday.

ATLANTA FOUND DEAD IN BATHROOM OF HOME

The victim of an apparent heart attack, Jonas Franklin Pittman, of 223 Breen avenue, was found late Thursday afternoon, according to police reports. Relatives said he had been ill for several weeks. The body was taken first to Grady hospital and was then taken to the establishment of Harry G. Poole, who will announce funeral arrangements. A coroner's inquest will be held today, as no one witnessed the death. Pittman is survived by his wife and two children.

Rome Workers Put Money In Trade as NRA Takes Hold

More Than 2,000 Resume Work With Increased Wages in Typical Southern Textile City.

Editor's Note: The following story shows the effect in a typical southern cotton mill town of the national recovery administration's program.

By FOSTER EATON.
(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)
ROME, Ga., Aug. 10.—(UP)—The national recovery program has put back to work in three major mills here nearly 2,500 persons or about 10 per cent of the population of this typical southern textile center.

Pay scales have been increased from 25 per cent to as high as 88 per cent in some instances. Exhibiting a new feeling of security, mill workers are loosening up and putting back into the channels of trade most of their increased earnings. The load on relief agencies is decreasing as more people are able to buy their own food and clothing. A trend toward spending money for things beyond the bare necessities of life is noticeable. One automobile dealer reported selling three cars within 15 minutes after recent settlement of a strike by which the average hourly wage paid by the Tubize Chatterton Corporation's rayon plant was raised from 30 1/2 cents to 46 cents. His place of business is directly across the street from the auditorium where the workers met and heard announcement of the strike settlement.

Strike Settled.
The strike had occurred when Tubize Chatterton announced operations under which it would pay 40 cents an hour for two 40-hour work shifts.

Girl, 11, Severely Wounds Playmate With Toy Gun

DUBLIN, Ga., Aug. 10.—(UP)—Little Jeannette Donaldson, age 11, had no idea the parlor rifle she was using as a toy was loaded. She was playing soldier in front of her home here when Marvin Lovein Jr., age 11, who had been at the library on the street, came along. She aimed and fired, wounding Marvin severely. Marvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lovein. Jeannette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Donaldson. The families are neighbors.

pending the promulgation of a code for the rayon industry. Workers demanded 50 cents an hour. The 46-cent scale was a compromise effected by a federal mediator. The entire mill force was unionized as part of the agreement.

The Tubize plant is now employing 1,708 persons compared to 1,035 working a few months ago. The Pepperell Cotton Mills at Lindale now employ 3,150 persons, an increase of 1,370 during the last few months. Average weekly pay for a 40-hour week is $14.85. Before the code went into effect, the average was $12 for a 55-hour week.

The Anchor Duck Cotton Mill has increased its employees from 350 to 750 and its average weekly pay from $12 to $15.

Conditions at these three mills are regarded as typical of all in the Rome vicinity and as fairly so of those throughout the section. The only cloud on the horizon was pointed to by R. D. Harvey, assistant agent of the Pepperell mill. He fears that prices of goods will advance faster than consumer buying power and bring about an overproduced condition that may force mills to slow their activities.

BREMEN, Ga., Aug. 10.—Haroldson and the surrounding counties turned out 10,000 strong this afternoon to honor the first Georgian from this section to obtain an important state post in many years. Chairman J. J. Mangham of the state highway commission, and the man who appointed him to that post, Governor Eugene Talmadge.

It was by far the largest crowd seen here in years and one of the most enthusiastic delegations being present from practically all of the counties adjacent to the district.

The governor and other state officials, including Judge Max L. McRae, of McRae, and W. Eugene Wilburn, of Oglethorpe, Mr. Mangham's fellow highway commissioners, were honored guests at a public speaking and barbecue which also had as guests Congressman M. C. Tarver, of Dalton; Congressman John Wood, of Canton; and Congressman Emmett Owen, of Griffin.

Although the Bremen committee, in charge of arrangements, prepared to feed more than 7,000 people, a number had to be turned away because the crowd exceeded the fondest expectations of the committee.

Governor Talmadge made the featured address, praising the record of Mr. Mangham as supervisor of purchases, the post he held before being named to the highway board, and repeating in brief his own record in office since he took over the reins of governorship on January 10.

The governor reviewed his controversy with the ousted state highway commissioners and said he was "thankful to have a man like J. J. Mangham to name to the all-important post of highway board chairman."

He also reviewed his investigation into the official conduct of the suspended public service commission and detailed what he hopes to obtain through the new commission.

The governor promised the enthusiastic crowd he would continue to keep a vigilant eye on state affairs and correct any evils which may be brought to his attention.

Mr. Mangham made a short talk in which he thanked his fellow citizens for the signal honors conveyed on him during the day and promised to render faithful service in his new post. Commissioners McRae and Wilburn were introduced to the crowd.

Short talks were made by Chairman Hugh Howell of the state democratic executive committee; Congressmen Tarver, Owen and Wood; Attorney-General Manning J. Yeomans; Judge E. L. Millican, of Carrollton; Hamilton McWhorter, of Lexington, president of the state senate, and others.

Arrie D. Tucker, on behalf of the employees of the highway department, presented Chairman Mangham a handsome traveling bag and brief case.

Among those who occupied places on the speaker's stand were Secretary of State John Wilson, Comptroller General William B. Harrison, Revenue Commissioner W. E. Mathieson, State Auditor Tom Wincham, Ben T. Hiest and George Goode, members of the public service commission; Charles E. Stewart and Mrs. Mangham.

Senator H. M. Goldin, of this district, introduced Governor Talmadge. Commissioner Wilburn will be honored by his fellow Macon county citizens at a barbecue later this month.

HAIZLIP IS HURT IN PLANE CRASH. SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Jimmy Haizlip, noted flyer, was slightly injured when the fast speed plane that he was piloting crashed at Bowles field here late this afternoon.

His escape from death or serious injury was considered remarkable, as the plane, swooping in to a landing at 100 miles an hour, burst over when it touched the ground, somersaulted several times and came to a halt in a heap of wreckage.

Haizlip managed to extricate himself from the demolished plane before witnesses of the crash, who rushed to the scene, could reach him.

The plane, owned by the Springfield Air Racing Association, was the same one in which Russell Thaw crashed at Indianapolis while participating in the Bendix air race early this summer. It was a sister ship of the plane in which Russell Boardman lost his life, also in the Bendix race.

BEER DRINKERS HIT PRICE IN MOULTRIE, THREATEN BOYCOTT

MOULTRIE, Ga., Aug. 10.—The status of beer in this thriving but parched community is somewhat dubious as a result of a couple of court decisions, but the status of beer drinkers is becoming well defined. In the beginning, retailers charged 25 cents a bottle. A canvas of nearby towns by beer drinkers gathering scientific data disclosed that the price in Moultrie was too high. Heads wagged. Retailers, not certain that they would be permitted to sell beer, suggested that if the first "test case" resulted in acquittal for a beer dealer, the prices would come down.

Last Monday a beer dealer saw a jury of his peers go out and come back in a few minutes, and heard the foreman say, "Not guilty." But the price held at 25 cents a bottle.

To complicate matters, Coleman Griffin, who was charged with having 50 bottles of home brew in his possession, watched a jury of his peers go out and come back, and heard the foreman say "Guilty." Three doctors testified Griffin's beer was not intoxicating, but Sheriff Beard testified it was intoxicating.

Meanwhile, the price of 3.2 beer remained at 25 cents a bottle. Citizens became aroused, and yesterday promoted a protest meeting which was augmented by a whispering campaign whose slogan is:

"Come down off that 25-cent-a-bottle limb or we'll drink home-made cider."

The beer retailers are withholding comment.

HENRY WATTERSON DIES AT SARATOGA SPRINGS. SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Henry Watterson, veteran New York music publisher, dropped dead last night at his summer home. He was about 60.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Henry Watterson, who died last night, went far afield from Broadway's Tin Pan Alley when he retired to chicken raising on an upstate farm.

The veteran music publisher long had been a close friend of Irving Berlin, the Alley's foremost composer, and prior to his retirement was a member of the firm of Watterson, Berlin & Snyder.

HAIZLIP IS HURT IN PLANE CRASH. SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Jimmy Haizlip, noted flyer, was slightly injured when the fast speed plane that he was piloting crashed at Bowles field here late this afternoon.

His escape from death or serious injury was considered remarkable, as the plane, swooping in to a landing at 100 miles an hour, burst over when it touched the ground, somersaulted several times and came to a halt in a heap of wreckage.

Haizlip managed to extricate himself from the demolished plane before witnesses of the crash, who rushed to the scene, could reach him.

The plane, owned by the Springfield Air Racing Association, was the same one in which Russell Thaw crashed at Indianapolis while participating in the Bendix air race early this summer. It was a sister ship of the plane in which Russell Boardman lost his life, also in the Bendix race.

FACES MURDER CHARGE IN WIFE'S AUTO DEATH

ELLIJAY, Ga., Aug. 10.—(UP)—Claiming his wife's death was accidental, R. W. Randall, of White Path, Ga., and Fort Myers, Fla., was held in jail here today, charged with murder in a warrant sworn out in Florida.

Mrs. Randall died July 28 and Randall reported she was hurt fatally when their automobile overturned on a little-frequented mountain road near their summer home. He was treated for minor injuries.

Randall, an attorney, owns much improved farm land near Fort Myers. Sheriff W. E. Rackley, of Gilmer county, said Randall was arrested Monday after Gregory Scott, of Madison, Fla., had sworn out a warrant charging murder. Dispatches from Madison quoted Scott as saying he was employed by Mrs. Randall's family there to investigate the case and that he took out the warrant on the basis of his investigation. He said wounds were found on the head when Mrs. Randall's body was brought to Madison for burial.

Sheriff Rackley said Randall's hearing had been set for August 19. Mrs. Randall was last seen at the home of Madison. In addition to her husband, three children survive.

ADAMS IN WASHINGTON ON TOBACCO SITUATION

Commissioner Confers With Federal Official on Unsatisfactory Prices.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—G. C. Adams, Georgia commissioner of agriculture, conferred today with J. B. Hutson, acting chief of the farm adjustment administration's tobacco section, on the Georgia tobacco situation.

Adams said that growers in Georgia were dissatisfied with the price paid for flue-cured tobacco and that he will urge immediate action on the part of the farm administration to raise prices.

Coming here at the instance of Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, Adams said he expected to see other agricultural officials from the flue-

Canadian Border City Boasts Blooming Cotton

WINDSOR, Ontario, Aug. 10.—(P)—It's a far cry from Dixie to the border cities but cotton has spanned the distance.

Two years ago the American Legion convened at Detroit and southern Legionnaires brought cotton seeds with them, distributing them to children.

The son of Victor Fauria took some seeds to his dad who planted them in his garden. Last year he selected the best seeds from the few plants that grew with the result this year he has two 60-foot rows of cotton plants in bloom.

cured tobacco-growing states during his stay.

Adams said there were evidences that there was collusion on the part of some tobacco buyers and that the price in Georgia averaged 13 cents a pound when it should be 20 cents to insure the grower a fair return.

The Georgia commissioner said he had presented no definite program but would urge immediate action upon Hutson and other farm administration officials.

SALAMANDERS FROM BABY.

In 1842, Holbrook described a species of salamander in his monumental North American herpetology under the name of Salamander quadrangulatus.

This species was lost to science for a number of years; that is to say, the specimens on which the description was based were lost. The species was rediscovered early in this century by Dr. Leonard Stejneger, of the United States National Museum, in a series of specimens from Grandfather mountain, North Carolina. He redescribed the animals, and pointed out their relationship to the Genus Desmognathus. So much to introduce Desmognathus quadrangulatus (Holbrook).

Last Sunday, at the Athens Y. M. C. A. camp at Tallulah Falls, I found this species in abundance. Oliver Allen, the enterprising young man in charge of natural history for the camp, showed me the habitat, and we caught about 50 of this type of salamander.

Since they belong to a salamander family, which are without lungs and without gills in the adult stage, in which breathing is carried on through the skin, I believe that the habits of the group, as shown by this species, will be of interest to the readers of this department.

Since breathing through the skin necessitates a moist environment, these beasts (speaking now of the genus Desmognathus) inhabit the edges of rocky streams, and hide under stones half embedded in the sand. It is also under these stones that the female deposits her eggs, attaching them to the underside, and staying with them until they hatch. They remain active all year, but breed in the winter. They do not fear cold, but heat, and demand moisture above all things. While Desmognathus occasionally wanders from water, I have never found them over 10 feet from streams, and then in moist spots under logs. I have found their eggs, ready to hatch, in January, and the water waiting to greet the young amphibians was numbing to the hands.

At least four species of Desmognathus are found in this state. D. fuscus rufus is the common dark brown animal with a gray belly found around Atlanta. The others are mountain forms. There are endless problems connected with the English salamanders, and now that I have found the ideal spot with plenty of material, I expect to study the chemical features of their environment next summer.

DANCING MASTERS NAME NEW STEP; YES—IT'S NIRA

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(P)—Dancing Masters of America (unincorporated) went into a huddle Wednesday, battled long and earnestly with art and economics and emerged with a new dance. It's called—you've guessed it—NIRA.

It goes like this: Take a gliding forward step, two short side steps (one-two-three) and one long glide. It's like a fox trot, resembles a waltz, and is reminiscent of a two-step with terpischorean condiments.

Miss Mildred Adams, of Birmingham, Ala. (She was "Miss Birmingham of 1924" at Atlantic City) and Tom Reilly, of Syracuse, N. Y., gave a preview.

They predicted a brilliant future for the step.

The association adopted the NRA blanket code and drafted a code for dancing masters calling for a maximum work week of 30 hours, with a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour.

CHINESE RED HORDE THREATENING AMOY

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 10.—(P)—A threatened invasion of Amoy by 40,000 hungry reds who were forced out of Kiangsi province by the army of General Chiang Kai-shek was reported from foreign sources in Amoy today.

The communists were believed headed for Changchow, 35 miles west of Amoy with the purpose of establishing a sea outlet there in anticipation of an attack on Amoy.

Reports said the situation in Lung-yen was obscure although it was believed General Tsai Ting-kai's nineteenth route army had fallen back as a result of its inability to oppose a superior red force, allowing the invaders to occupy Lung-yen and continue eastward.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10.—(P)—The collision of the liner City of Baltimore and the tanker Beacon July 12 was declared an unavoidable accident in a report released today by the board of steamboat inspectors.

MALLORCA "DONE," OUSTED AUTHOR SAYS ON RETURN

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(P)—Theodore Pratt, magazine writer who left the Spanish island of Mallorca after difficulties with authorities over an article he wrote, returned to New York today saying the island "is just about finished as far as Americans are concerned."

Pratt said the Spanish translation of the article was "maliciously selective."

"I simply tried to write an amusing article about Mallorca," the writer said, "and found that the Spaniards can't be kidded."

Americans are leaving the island as fast as they can, Pratt said, "and there is a spirit of unrest and fear among those still there because of what has happened."

"Its greater past attraction, cheapness," Pratt declared, "is disappearing. Prices are up and the dollar down. Outside of large cities, you can live just as economically in America."

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 11, 1933.

NO PLACE FOR POLITICS.

In warning the members of the police department that they must stay clear of politics, Chief Sturdivant has taken a necessary step in behalf of discipline and efficiency.

If, in the face of the chief's stern warning, any member of the force continues to "talk politics," he should be fired instantly.

Especially in the police and fire departments of the municipal governments should politics be taboo. These two departments are charged with the safety of all the people of the city and their efforts should not be permitted to be handicapped by the introduction of political wrangling and favoritism.

The members of the fire and police forces are the safety representatives of every citizen of Atlanta, whatever their political belief, their creed or their race. As such they should steer clear of entangling alliances likely to cause internal dissensions and to lead to charges of favoritism in the performance of their duties.

The police department was kept for many years in a continuous stew as the result of internal and external political influences. With the induction of Chief Sturdivant into office, this situation was cleared up and an immediate improvement in law enforcement resulted.

Atlanta has learned the lesson of the danger of politics in the police department, and if any of its members insist upon defying the chief's plain and straight-from-the-shoulder warning, they should be summarily dismissed.

COTTON CROP PROSPECTS.

In July it was announced that American cotton growers, had planted slightly in excess of 40,000,000 acres for the 1933 crop. Preliminary tabulations of the cotton acreage reduction offers indicate that approximately 10,304,000 acres have been or will be taken out of production as a result of the acreage reduction campaign, leaving approximately 29,700,000 acres for this season's crop.

It is indeed fortunate that the administration's acreage reduction campaign was successful, for now comes the government's first estimate of this year's crop, which is placed at 12,314,000 bales. This high figure is the result of a forecast on conditions placed at 74.2 per cent and an indicated average yield of 98.4 pounds per acre.

But for the acreage reduction campaign we would be faced with another possible 16,000,000-bale crop and another season of 5-cent cotton.

Last year's crop amounted to 13,002,000 bales, and the average yield per acre was 173.3 pounds.

In the last 12 months the world has consumed 24,725,000 bales of all kinds of cotton, 14,132,000 bales of which were American cotton—a gain of 1,620,000 bales over the previous year, when 12,512,000 bales were used. Up to the spurt taken by business early this spring, indications were that not over 12,000,000 bales would be consumed this year, but business revival helped to reduce the anticipated surplus so that cotton carried over on August 1 was reduced to 11,783,000 bales (including linters), as compared with a carryover of 13,499,000 last year.

If the government estimate of this year's production holds good to the end, and we have a new crop of 12,314,000 bales to add to the carryover of 11,783,000 bales, that makes a total of 24,097,000, which just lacks a few hundred thousand bales of the total amount consumed by the entire world during the past year; and as nearly one-half of that was produced in our country, it is clear that our surplus is still too high, and drastic steps must be taken next year for still further reduction.

Government experts are already working on plans for acreage reduction in 1934, and wise cotton farmers will begin now to lay out programs that will include live stock, poultry, dairying and diversification of crops, with production of ample food and feed.

The hope that 1933's cotton would sell for around 12 cents a pound is not so buoyant now as it was at the beginning of the acreage-reduction campaign, so the live-at-home program must be intensified and plans made to co-operate fully with the government to prevent a recurrence of 5-cent cotton.

CLEANING OUT THE JAILS.

The announcement that all felony convicts are to be immediately removed from county jails throughout the state means the elimination of a condition that has been a reflection upon the state.

Under the Georgia penal system, convicted men are supposed to be incarcerated either in the various road gangs or at the state prison farm. Only in these two branches of the system does the state make proper arrangements for the care of long-term prisoners.

To confine such prisoners in the ramshackle and unsanitary county jails of the state is not humane. These buildings are not provided with even the most necessary precautions for the health of their inmates.

The food is of a type to undermine, instead of build up, the health of the prisoners; men, women and children, first-time offenders and the mentally unwell are herded in together in a revolting manner.

While convict labor cannot, under federal regulations, be used in the laying of paving for which federal aid is used to cover part of the cost, there is plenty of work at which they can be put. They can be used for grading and for all other preliminary work prior to the actual surfacing process, they can improve the dirt roads of the state, and perform maintenance work that will prolong the life of every road in the state.

The new highway board, in agreeing to place in road camps the convicts now being held in the county jails of the state, have taken a progressive and humanitarian step. It will go far towards relieving a condition in practically every county in Georgia that is a shame to the state.

WE BELIEVE IN WATER.

It is a debatable question as to whether or not the people of the United States are the greatest users of water for thirst-quenching purposes, but, according to a recent statement by the Industrial Chemical Company, of New York, there is no doubt that we lead the world in the total use of water for all purposes.

The average daily consumption of water for drinking, washing and the thousand and one other purposes to which it is put, by each and every man, woman and child in the United States, is more than 200 gallons a day, according to this company.

In New York alone more than 960,000,000 gallons are used each day, and the average consumption there is no greater than in other cities and sections.

No wonder that Americans are the cleanest people in the world.

To the average woman her weighty problem is in endeavoring to reduce her weight.

Many people lose their heads by not knowing exactly how to use it.

Bathrooms.

A century ago baths were still regarded with suspicion in America, remarks the Manchester Guardian, which is news to me. But whether it is that they are suspected or not, I know a lot of European countries, Asia we will not even mention, where bathrooms are virtually unknown to this day. We shall not mention these countries by name, for fear of arousing the patriotic ire of their citizens, who would promptly challenge us by saying that they had tubs and bathtubs and sundry other vessels in which ablutions are performed. We doubt it, but, believe me, it takes some trouble to find a barrel, say in Apulia, and as to Bulgaria they had to put a bathroom into the palace in a great hurry when the young queen was coming over two years ago.

It was in Vienna, gorgeous, worldly Vienna, wasn't it? The only one for a long time to have a bathroom? I hasten to add that there are plenty of bathrooms in the Vienna hotels these days, in marble and fine porcelain and extravagant materials at that. In the time of Queen Victoria two English lords were famous for having bathrooms in their castles. Cold water bathrooms only, though, let it be said. They had a tap for hot water, but when this was turned on the records say there was heard "a succession of rumbles, like the rumbling of a small glacier of rust-colored liquid heavily charged with dead earwigs and bluebottles." This continued for a few minutes and then ceased. The only perceptible difference between the hot-water and the cold lay in the color and in the cargo of defunct life which the former brought on its bosom. Both were stone cold.

It was left to Margot Asquith to introduce a bathroom into the British premier's residence. 10 Downing street, and as to the Oxford dons: "Baths? Baths? Why baths when you are up here only for eight weeks?" was a fair expression of current opinion 50 years or so ago.

Literary Gems.

There has recently been published a volume of poems by the late Harry Crosby, the American poet who committed suicide some years ago. The poems must be seen to be believed. A small extract carries conviction: "Ethiopia found on sea bed Heterothelidus tsu foed."

This, is dear readers, the English language and not a piece of scientific leprosy. D. H. Lawrence has written the preface and T. S. Eliot has written the introduction in which he says: "Harry Crosby's verse is consistently, I think, a masterpiece of an effort to record as exactly as possible to his own satisfaction a particular way of apprehending life. Life was too much for Crosby, who knew slightly. I never knew what his apprehensions were, but judging by his verse, I can faintly imagine. The worst is that if you don't thrill with emotion to that sort of writing, these days, you are dubbed an ignoramus, a Philistine and I don't know what else by the left-bank literati."

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

IF YOU SLEEP LIKE A TOP

YOU TOSSED ALL NIGHT.

Observations of many normal individuals asleep have shown that healthy persons in a good night's sleep change their position from 20 to 45 times. Some of the positions a sleeper assumes for anywhere from a minute to half an hour are contortions rather than relaxations. Mere changes of position give rise to muscular fatigue. Physicians recognize this fact when they instruct the nurse to turn the prostrated, perhaps delirious or unconscious patient from side to side regularly.

Valedictorians often ask whether one should sleep on the right side or on the left, prone or supine, stretched out or curled up, with pillow or without, under many covers or none, in a feather bed or a cot, under a draft from open window or fan or protected from the breeze. There is only one answer to all these questions. Sleep in whatever posture and surroundings you like.

For instance, if you harbor chronic notions about the effects of drafts or "exposure to cold," or if you take the half-baked warnings of the self-styled "scientific" health authorities too seriously as they do, it would probably spoil your sleep to leave the fan going or the window open on a sultry night. It would be no affair of your mind, you couldn't sleep. Far better a restful night of fitful snoring than hours of silent vigil for a mind none too strong.

At a sleep the breathing becomes slower and deeper—deeper because it is freer, uninhibited by consciousness, free as when one is under the effects of anesthesia. The breathing in sleep is belly breathing. A simple belly breathing exercise at sleep time sends thousands of invalids and well folk off to happy dreams every night. Send a stamped, addressed envelope and ask for the belly breathing instructions. It will not cure anything, but on the other hand it will do no one any harm to practice belly breathing a few moments night and morning.

In normal sleep the breathing has a tendency to increase and decrease periodically, a type of breathing which in pathological exaggeration is called Cheyne-Stokes breathing, the striking characteristic being the intervals of no breathing between the waning and waxing phases. In normal sleep too, the expiration is a little shorter and more audible than in waking hours.

The pulse rate slows down in sleep—the heart gets rest. The blood pressure is lower, and a relatively greater quantity of blood is held in the surface vessels in the arms and legs and in the skin. The skin is warm and slightly flushed; the arms and legs are slightly enlarged or swollen. Everyone knows that warmth, especially of the hands and feet, conduces to sleepiness. Thousands of our readers know that the belly breathing exercise conduces to warmth of the feet.

In a healthy sleeping person the eyeballs roll upward and outward and the pupils are contracted as in ordinary waking life. In the case of morphine poisoning, the skin, too, is warm and dry, as in the early stage of opium poisoning. Physiologists disagree as to the state of the brain in sleep. You see, it is so hard to examine the brain without waking the subject.

SELF-DEFENSE CLAIM

IN FLORIDA KILLING

NEWPORT, Fla., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Carlos Barton, 22, was shot and killed by a neighbor here today, and officers said Parker Vause admitted he fired the fatal shot.

Vause told officers he fired only in self-defense. He was released without bond pending a coroner's inquest.

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon.

BY-PLAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A spokesman for President Roosevelt buried in the ears of newsmen a few days ago that these current inflation stories are bad business.

He cautioned the moulders of public opinion against crawling out on a limb with predictions. He did everything but say flatly that Mr. Roosevelt was not going to inflate.

It did not take long for Wall Street to hear about that. A representative of a large New York bank telephoned the tidings to the bank president. The banker replied: "Tell Mr. Roosevelt we went out on the limb with him when he said he would restore commodity prices, and we are going to stay out on the limb with him until he says something different."

Next day the market started going up a little on the expectation of inflation.

MORE SHIFTS

A change in the management of the federal reserve board (as well as the treasury) will probably accompany the fresh new dealing in the fall. Governor Black's appointment as governor was only temporary. He is ready to leave at the first opportunity. His administration has been entirely acceptable, but it is considered advisable to make a permanent appointment before the autumn business and financial push is undertaken.

Presidential advisers whisper that Mr. Roosevelt has given little thought to a successor for Black. They believe he would like to have former Governor Cox, of Ohio. It is questionable whether Cox would accept.

One thing is certain. The new man will not be a New Yorker and probably not a banker. At least he will not be identified with any of the larger banking institutions.

FINANCING

Those nearest the president swear (off the record) that dollar devaluation was not discussed when Warburg, Rodgers and Warren put their heads together with Mr. Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

Unofficial word is being passed out that they talked treasury financing. The specific subject was supposed to be the money needed by the government for public works and other expenditures during the remainder of the fiscal year.

The best expert opinion is that the government may be able to get along with about $750,000,000 of new money. That is not enough to get excited about.

Suspicious observers noted that the refinancing subject is very closely interwoven with the dollar. You might discuss one without the other, but it would be difficult. Especially with such men as Professors Warren and Rodgers and James Warburg. They have been eating and sleeping with the dollar for months now.

BUSINESS

The reason everyone has suddenly become agitated on this subject is that current slipping trade figures show some further stimulative action is in order.

There are two sides to those figures. One is that August always has been a bad business month. Summer buying is over. Fall buying has not yet started. Car loadings and industrial activity generally will under the heat. Perhaps September weather will bring its own relief.

The other side is that the administration has been combating seasonal trends successfully since March. If it wants to keep all the curves going up, it cannot permit a breathing spell now.

ADVICE

The average man need not worry himself about the inflation and anti-inflation ballyhoo.

There are certain elementary facts in the situation which he can rely. The basic one is that Mr. Roosevelt is in control and has the power to do what he believes is best. He is admittedly experimenting and constantly changing his methods. He has not changed his purpose—improved commodity prices, re-employment, higher wages.

If one method falters, he will try another before you realize the first one has failed. Speculators may suffer, but not the average citizen.

The only way he can ultimately fail short of his objective is for all methods to fail.

The time to think about that possibility has not yet come.

YAWNS

Those in charge of setting up the deposit guarantee for banks are still sitting on their hands.

It seems they just cannot do a thing without two new trustees. These trustees have not been appointed. No one knows when they will be.

After they are selected all they will have to do is pore over the records of 10,000 banks and work out the guarantee set-up. Two fast men might do it in a year or so.

The law provides that the set-up go into effect January 1—maybe.

NOTES

General Johnson apparently has not been told there will be no inflation. He is conducting a "buy now" campaign, predicting prices will shortly be higher.

Mr. Roosevelt's closest associates are annoyed at the widespread use of his picture by private firms in connection with NRA. They are thinking of those advertisements which read: "Mr. Roosevelt, we are with you." Their idea is that such a thing can be overdone. They are also worried that lip service to the NRA may exceed genuine action.

Is the Rich Man's Son Above the Law

Because His Dad Has Influence?

By Robert Quillen

Let us suppose, to provide an illustration, that you live in a typical American village. You have two thousand neighbors, all of them your kind of people.

It is a quiet and orderly village, poor but content, and its people are self-respecting, independent and a little intolerant of strangers.

Now suppose that the peace and dignity of your Eden are outraged by an invasion of well-to-do Spaniards. These invaders are an arrogant lot. They feel superior to you and your neighbors and make no effort to conceal it. They crowd your hotels and restaurants, and the noise of their carousing keeps you awake at night. They act as though they owned the place.

Then, as a crowning affront, one of them shows his contempt for you and your village by knocking down a policeman who tries to quiet him.

How would you feel about it?

If you are a typical American, you would see red. You simply couldn't endure a situation of that kind. You would fall upon these overbearing aliens and show them who owned the country.

Now try the shoe on the other foot.

Americans attracted by low prices have invaded the island of Mallorca, off the coast of Spain, and made themselves a nuisance. Several of them, who questioned the authority of a policeman, are held in jail. And our government, prompted by influential patriots, has taken steps to effect a rescue.

When you read that American citizens are in trouble anywhere, you feel the natural resentment of a patriot and partisan. You think the government should do something. The world must understand that the rights of the humblest American citizen will be protected.

That is a fine sentiment. But we are not the only people who have pride, and ours is not the only land in which people resent the arrogant imposition of a foreigner.

Americans in other lands seldom get into trouble by obeying the law and behaving like well-bred, civilized adults.

If they behave otherwise, they deserve the same treatment that aliens of their kind would receive in America.

American citizenship is a proud privilege, but it isn't a license to bully the world.

chado to get out of the way as the first step for a new order in Cuba. Representative Fish outlined steps which are regarded as possibly reflecting the views of the United States administration.

He believes the next move would be withdrawal of recognition of the Machado government and the next, armed intervention as permitted under the treaty granting Cuban independence.

"I do not think armed intervention is contemplated or necessary," said Fish. "If it is required I will back the president. I can only say that I have the greatest confidence in the leadership of President Roosevelt and Ambassador Welles in their present steps."

Unconcerned.

To tell outward appearances, Mr. Roosevelt was unconcerned and confident of an early settlement of the Cuban strife. However, he kept close contact with developments over the telephone before motoring late in the day to a nearby boys' camp.

He had as luncheon guests Adolph Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, and Frank Buxton, of the Boston Herald.

Smiling, but silent, William H. Woodin, secretary of the treasury, left the summer White House during the under orders from the president and his physician to take another month of rest before returning to his duties.

WELLES' PROPOSAL REJECTED BY PARTY

calling it only a matter of routine intended to cope with the problems created by the general strike.

In a formal communication, President Machado said:

"In answer to your message asking a statement from me as to the placing of Cuba under a state of war, I am glad to say there is not any special purpose or significance in it, being only a matter of routine."

"In other words, when the Cuban congress approved the suspension for a period of 30 days of the constitutional guarantees upheld in the constituent articles of our present constitution, the logical step to put in operation this emergency law was the decree of a state of war."

But the temporary suspension of the constitutional guarantees is only intended to cope with the problems created throughout the republic by the general strike and has no political meaning.

"As for your second question regarding my future plans I can say that I have not changed my mind as to my purpose to lend every support to the constitutional reforms to the project of electoral law prepared under the guidance of Professor McBain and which project was sent yesterday to the congress with a message of the executive; to uphold the autonomy of the university also in accordance with the project of the same Professor McBain, and which project will send today to the congress with a message of the executive recommending its approval."

Reporter Arrested.

Leo J. Reiser, Havana correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, was arrested here late today and taken to the fifth police station. Charges against him were not immediately made public.

The strikes of transport and other industries which have tied up most of the normal activities in the republic continued unabated despite efforts of the government to induce workmen to return to their jobs by granting various concessions.

The food situation consequently grew more serious and again today which entered the city and again last night in response to the president's call assisted in the distribution of certain essential commodities to hospitals and other places of special need.

It was made clear today that Ambassador Welles' efforts at mediation were supported not only by President Roosevelt but by the leaders of the conservative and popular parties in Cuba whose agreements were published yesterday.

Won't Return to Work.

It was reported in well informed quarters that representatives of the many unions joining in the island-wide strike of the last fortnight met last evening and ratified the president's call to return to work.

Previously the central strike committee, and all its demands accepted by the government, had promised that the workers would return to their jobs. Delegates from the unions, however, overruled the committee.

The sources said the workmen were determined not to go back to work until the present government is out, the suspension of the constitutional guarantees by congress yesterday being used merely as a pretext to conceal the strikers' real intention.

The labor movement has been freely characterized since early last week as a "passive revolution," and President Machado yesterday formally recognized that fact when, in decreeing the country in state of war, he explained that the strike had produced "a revolutionary condition" in the country.

playes and be required to pay time and one-third for overtime."

The agreement would permit the operation of "split shifts" limited to two periods of active working hours, the total time involved in such periods plus the interval of inactivity between them not to exceed 12 hours in any one working day.

The wages provided were: In cities of 500,000 or more, 28 cents an hour; from 250,000 to 500,000, 27 cents; from 250,000 to 250,000, 26 cents; less than 250,000, 25 cents.

The labor manufacturing industry was permitted a 40-hour week, the maximum to be increased as necessary during seasonal peaks but not to exceed more than 44 hours or more than 1,040 hours in 26 consecutive weeks. It excluded supervisory and others not engaged in productive work.

The information on which the petition is based was presented by Attorney Walter McElreath, W. F. Buchanan and Carlton W. Bins, and the law firm of Etheridge, Belser, Etheridge & Etheridge.

FLUE-CURED TOBACCO PRICE IN HEARING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—The advisory committee representing flue-cured tobacco growers in North Carolina and South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia are to meet with farm adjustment administration officials Monday to determine a program directed at raising flue-cured prices during the present harvest.

A series of protests over the price of flue-cured tobacco have come to the farm administration from Georgia, and the market opened today in South Carolina at prices unsatisfactory to the farmers and the farm administration.

A processing tax to be paid by the manufacturers and passed on to the growers in return for agreements to reduce acreage next year has been suggested. This, however, is difficult of application because about 40 per cent of the flue-cured crop ordinarily goes into export channels. A combination of a processing tax and an agreement with buyers to raise their prices has been proposed by a farm administration official. Details remained to be worked out, and it is a question whether a workable agreement can be arrived at that will lift prices substantially.

G. C. Adams, Georgia commissioner of agriculture, conferred today on the tobacco situation in the state with J. B. Hutson, acting chief of the farm administration's tobacco division. Adams plans to remain in Washington to participate in the conference on Monday.

Up-Side-Down Flyer Sets New Record

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—(P)—Hanging head downward in a 125-mile flight from San Diego, Milo G. Burcham, 30-year-old head of a Long Beach aviation school, today established a new world record for upside-down flying. He had practiced for the feat by "setting" in an inverted kitchen chair.

Burcham was in the air 1 hour, 46 minutes and 59 seconds. This time exceeded by 39 minutes, 59 seconds the upside-down flight over Torino, Italy, several months ago by Lieutenant Tito Falconi, Italian royal air force officer.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Recent statistics, 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

ROOSEVELT VISITS BACK-TO-SOIL BOYS

BOWDOIN FARMS, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(P)—New York city boys working the soil of this Hudson valley hillside of the Children's Aid Society received a visit today from President Roosevelt, who told them they were carrying out his "pet hobby" of back-to-the-land.

Motoring here with his mother, the president rode around the grounds, chatting with the playing children and with boys in overalls. At the community center where he himself played 40 years ago he paused for a brief talk.

"I am happy to be here again," he said. "Down here we are doing something not only for the younger boys and girls in giving them a chance for the open air, but we are putting to practice a pet hobby of mine, educating the young men to be useful outside of the cities."

"I think that more and more we are discovering the appreciation of the farm. At least, the farmer has an assurance that he will never starve to death. Also, when you are on the farm you know full well you will never be millionaires, but there are lots of things in life other than growing exceedingly rich. You have assurance of a competence and a place for your children among healthy surroundings."

KEATON IS SHORN OF HALF HIS WIVES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—(P)—Instead of two "wives" in Hollywood, Buster Keaton, frozen-faced film comedian, now has but one, Natalie Talmadge Keaton received her final decree of divorce from the actor today.

The divorce grew out of a series of disputes, one of which resulted in an attempted by the comedian to take their two young sons to Mexico in an airplane. Police halted them at San Diego. Keaton was married last January 8 at Ensenada, Mexico, to Miss May Scribner, a nurse.

He and his bride returned to Hollywood two months after the ceremony and Keaton said of his new marital status:

"While we are not legally married in the United States, we will be when my divorce becomes final. Those who don't like it aren't any kind of people, anyway."

Mrs. Keaton, the first, accused the comedian of cruelty, her sister, Constance Talmadge Netherer, corroborating her testimony. The couple separated July 5, 1932, after eleven years of married life. A property settlement was effected out of court and Mrs. Keaton was awarded custody of the children.

Mill Worker Arrested For Flogging Baby

GASTONIA, N. C., Aug. 10.—(P)—Accused of beating his eight-month-old son, Jimmie, unmercifully for an hour with a leather strap, Dewey Graham, 27, of the Randle Mill village, was in jail today charged with assault with intent to kill.

"I beat him because he cried all the time and it bothered me," said the father.

Officers went to Graham's home and arrested him yesterday after neighbors had telephoned them that he had beaten the child incessantly for an hour.

Although the child's body was a mass of bruises, physicians said there were no dangerous wounds and the baby would recover.

THREAT AGAINST JUDGE SPEEDS CHICAGO JUSTICE

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—(P)—Judges of Chicago's criminal court are answering the challenges of crime with action to put gunmen behind prison bars.

Threats of death sent to members of the judiciary were followed almost immediately yesterday by the sentencing of 10 more men to the penitentiary.

This action brought to 66 the total of alleged offenders sentenced to state prison since local authorities began an intensive drive 10 days ago to clear the dockets of criminal cases.

Judge Joseph B. David, one of the judges, threatened, read a letter containing the threats and then promptly sentenced Lester Brown, 23, to the maximum of one year to life for robbery. He also sentenced Jerry Ford, reputed gangster of the Roger Touhy gang, to three months in the house of correction for having a gun.

Mrs. R. F. Ashurst Elected Dean Of Local Chapter of Iota Tau Tau

Mrs. R. F. Ashurst was elected dean of the local chapter of Iota Tau Tau, national legal sorority, at the meeting held Monday evening at the home of Miss Edith Hall on Peachtree road. Other officers elected to serve with Mrs. Ashurst included Mrs. Agnes Duffey DeFoor, vice dean; Miss Tommie Parrish, secretary; Miss Courtney Carwell, treasurer; and Mrs. Beverly Marsh Freeman, historian and editor. All officers are undergraduate students of the Atlanta Law school.

Important business was transacted at this meeting. Plans were completed for the script dance the chapter will sponsor on Saturday evening, August 12, at 1720 Peachtree street, N. E., from 9 until 12 o'clock.

Of particular interest was notice from the national grand council of the sorority accepting the invitation extended by the local chapter for the national convention of the sorority to be held in Atlanta in June, 1934. Miss Sophia Horne was elected convention marshal to be general chairman in charge of plans for the convention. Ways and means for assuring the success of the convocation were thoroughly gone into, and several projects tentatively initiated.

Details for activities during the coming year were proposed, new members were discussed, and proposals were made to encourage the study of law among a group of young women whose names were mentioned as being interested.

Members of the local chapter of Iota Tau Tau national legal sorority are Mesdames R. F. Ashurst, Agnes Duffey DeFoor, William Dunaway, Beverly Marsh Freeman, Leale J. Steele Jr., Misses Margaret Acree, Maurine Brock, Courtney Carwell, Fredonia Ernst, Edith Hall, Sophia Horne, Jeanette Lane and Tommie Parrish.

HAY FEVER MISERY
relieved by soft, disposable tissues

Instead of damp, irritating handkerchiefs... use KLEENEX disposable tissues

HAY FEVER sufferers—don't try to get through another season without Kleenex. Kleenex puts an end to discomfort caused by damp, irritating handkerchiefs. Puts an end to big laundry bills, too—and to disagreeable handkerchief washing.

Kleenex is a soft tissue, handkerchief size, gentle, absorbent, snowy white (or tinted, if you prefer).

Costs less than laundering. It costs less to use Kleenex than to have handkerchiefs laundered! So it is a saving of money as well as an aid to health and comfort.

Both economy and cleanliness are assured with Kleenex by the patented, self-dispensing pull-out box. Only the next tissues to be used are exposed at any one time. Hands never enter the box to contaminate or mess up the other sheets, or to pull out more Kleenex than is needed.

Kleenex should always be used to remove face creams, because it is so sanitary and so absorbent.

Try the larger Kleenex too—sheets three times usual size! It's splendid for cosmetic use; also for guest towels and dusting.

Be sure it's Kleenex

Handkerchief size Kleenex comes in smart packages, and in rolls, at drug, dry goods, or department stores.

CHINESE CHARGE JAPS WITH NEW INVASION

PEIPING, China, Aug. 10.—(AP)—North China military headquarters of the Chinese nationalist government announced Wednesday that 6,000 Japanese and Manchukuan troops have invaded Chinese territory in Chahar province, at Tolunnoerh (Dolonor) in resumption of Sino-Japanese hostilities.

The Chinese claimed Japanese airplanes have resumed a bombardment along the Chahar-Jehol border, inflicting heavy loss of life and property.

The hostilities were described as an outgrowth of the recent activities of the so-called "Christian General" Feng Yu-shiang, who seized the border town of Tolunnoerh from Manchukuan guards a month ago and launched an independent campaign against the Japanese.

Culbertson on Contract

One of Life's Minor Tragedies.

BY ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The hand below was played recently in a fairly high stake Rubber Bridge game in New York city. North and South through the use of the Four-Five No-trump Convention were enabled to reach a Grand Slam which was perfectly sound and which under most circumstances would have been made.

It is my sad task to relate, however, that in this particular instance the gods of chance were not with Declarer, as the adverse cards were distributed in the only possible way which would defeat the contract. To make the story even sadder, the opponents on the very next hand went out with a Small Slam of their own. Thus distribution was responsible for a swing of some 4,500 points against North and South.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
South North
1♠ 2♣
2♥ 4♥

Pass

South's conventional response to North's four-notrump bid enabled North to locate the two missing Aces in the South hand. In addition, from the bidding he knew that South probably held a 4-5 distribution and that therefore there must be some good play for the Grand Slam.

West's Opening lead was a low spade, which Declarer quite naturally won with the Ace in Dummy. South now, after a slight huddle, emerged with the correct conclusion that there was only one line of play for him to pursue. This line of play would win under almost any circumstances. South was able to count up four top tricks in the Ace-King of diamonds, the Ace of spades, and the Ace of clubs. If he could make nine trump tricks by a simple crossruff the contract was assured. If the clubs were divided as good as 4 and 2 a low club could be ruffed with a low trump in Dummy and two of Declarer's low trumps could safely be used to ruff Dummy's spades. After this the contract was absolutely simple provided the third round of diamonds could safely be trumped with the heart 8 in Declarer's own hand and this line of play would succeed either if West held three or more diamonds or in the event that he held only two diamonds if he did not hold the 9 of hearts.

There is no point in going into the gory details of the play. South saw the correct plan of campaign and immediately set about following it. A glance at the East-West cards will show that he was doomed to disappointment as not only did the diamonds break 5 and 2 with the wrong hand holding five, but West held the 9 of hearts, and the Grand Slam contract, which absolutely should be bid and which would be made under ordinary circumstances, was defeated. Incidentally, the playing of Double Dummy there is no line of play which will win this hand, but even though one were found, the Declarer cannot be criticized as the simple crossruff with these cards is undoubtedly the best way of playing the hand, needing, as mentioned above, only a fairly normal break, and even being able to take care of a good many bad distributions.

STUNT MAN IN GRAVE REMOVED, ARRESTED

DANVILLE, Ky., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A man was taken from a grave here and arrested Wednesday.

He gave his name as James Fox, 22, of Knoxville, Tenn., and was held on a federal warrant from Asheville, N. C., charging violation of the white slavery act.

Fox was doing a "buried alive" stunt when arrested. He replaced the leader of the underground troupe, who left town last night after being buried since last Wednesday.

A warrant had been issued for the leader of the group, known here as Joe Elvardo, but Fox was taken into custody when he refused to answer questions of officers through a tube leading to the grave. Officers said they would hold Fox until witnesses arrive to view him. His bond was set at $1,000.

FRENCH TROOPS WATCH NAZIS ACROSS BORDER

MULHOUSE, France, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Armed French troops were stationed again today on the German frontier near here as a precaution against the alleged aggressions of German Nazis such as occurred early this year at Huningue.

David Blasts Report Of Peace With Aimee

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—(AP)—David L. Hutton Jr., paused between dates of grease paint in his dressing room at a downtown theater to call an abrupt halt to talk of a reconciliation between him and his evangelist wife, Aimee Semple McPherson.

That stacked up against beaming smiles Tuesday when the two of them emerged from a tete-a-tete in a hotel dining room to give very definite impressions to onlookers that everything was going to be all right in the personage of Angelus Temple once more. An attorney (at that time) opined that dropping of Hutton's divorce seemed not unlikely.

"This reconciliation stuff," said Hutton last night, "has got ahead of me. Of course, I spoke with my wife, but that doesn't mean that my divorce action will be affected in any way."

His wife said she was going away on a preaching tour to forget a broken heart.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION STAGES A DEBATE

The debating contest sponsored by the Atlanta Methodist Young People's Union ended Thursday night as a team from Kirkwood Methodist church debated a team from the East Point Methodist church. The team from Kirkwood was composed of Harold Dobbs and Paul Woolley, and the team from East Point was composed of Miss Hannah Shell and Sidney Shell.

The question for debate was: "Resolved That Congress Should Enact Some Form of Compulsory Unemployment Insurance." The decision was in favor of the negative team from East Point.

Miss Hannah Shell and Sidney Shell were presented with a $2.50 gold piece and a loving cup was presented to their young people's department. A medal was also presented to Sidney Shell, as he was judged the best speaker of the evening. The judges for the evening were Carl Sutherland, Douglas MacRae and Tom Oliver.

The debate was held at the regular monthly business meeting of the Methodist Young People's Union at College Park church and after the debate the union was entertained with a watermelon cutting. Kendrick K. Kelley Jr. is president of this union. About 500 young people were present at the services.

Scenes Shifted by Poison Probers In Quest for Murder Evidence

GREENWOOD, Miss., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Investigation of evidence to support the murder charge against Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, 33-year-old unmarried physician, was shifted to Jackson today by District Attorney R. A. Jordan.

The district attorney went to Jackson to get first-hand testimony from those who heard the death-bed statement of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, prominent 40-year-old surgeon, in which he was quoted as saying he was given poison in a whiskey highball by his former woman medical associate, Dr. Dean, ten days before he died an agonizing death in a Jackson hospital.

He already has obtained a statement from a roomer at the lodging house where Dr. Kennedy lived that Dr. Kennedy had received four telephone calls from a woman on the night he was poisoned. The district attorney said the physician had got up at the fourth call and dressed and went out about midnight.

A letter signed "Ruth" also has been turned over to the district attorney, who said the letter read in part: "I am leaving Greenwood soon and you ought to come to see me. You owe me a going-away party."

Other witnesses have told the district attorney that the man and woman doctor had been together often prior to and after Dr. Kennedy's wife had obtained a divorce on the charge of "cruel and inhuman treatment."

But in recent months, the district attorney said, witnesses had told him Dr. Kennedy had stopped seeing her and had begun to call on his divorced wife. They had planned to remarry in Panama and Mrs. Kennedy had gone on ahead to the Canal Zone with their four-year-old daughter to await his arrival for their second wedding. The date had been set for a short time after the night the doctor was poisoned.

FINAL INSTALLMENT.

"I still have the worst part of my ordeal to go through. Facing Gloria I think it'll kill me—Doc."

"Oh—no it won't. That's going to be the happiest day of your life, son. Gloria harbors no meanness in her heart."

Tom gazed out across the estate—a faraway look in his eyes—

"The other day I sat down and wrote her the longest letter I've ever written in my life. I guess you'd say I laid my heart before. I—hope it'll help her to understand."

Dr. Sawyer changed the subject.

"If we don't get started back, I'll have no more practice than a rabbit. This living the life of Reilly isn't good for me. Time flies too fast."

Then he leaned toward the movie mogul and dropped his voice to a confiding whisper.

"Say—I been doing a little thinking, Tom. I dare say you've been worrying about what the folks back home are going to think of your turning up all of a sudden after 20 years?"

Curt smiled dryly.

"That's putting it mildly. It's been driving me wild."

The doctor crossed his legs and sat back.

"Well, I've got it all figured out. I don't make a practice of lying. But when I do—I'm an expert. Ever hear of amnesia?"

Tom Smith whistled under his breath.

"Loss of memory—now that is an idea."

The doctor grinned.

"Twenty years ago you were thrown out of your buggy and got hit on the head. You drifted out to Oklahoma and under the name of Curt Little made a fortune in the oil fields. I see your picture and come out to see Mary and look you up. When you see me you wake up and realize who you are."

The producer shrugged doubtfully.

"Sounds good—but will the natives believe it?"

"They'll believe anything I tell 'em."

the elderly doctor smiled reassuringly. "I have a reputation for being the most truthful church deacon for miles around."

Freckle lay on the couch in the living room of her apartment that evening, relaxing after a hard day's work in "Hi-De-Di."

The doorbell rang. It was a messenger with a long envelope. She signed for it and went back to the couch. Freckle started and paled when she saw there was a letter in the envelope signed "Curt Little." It reminded her of the most miserable day of her life.

"Dear Freckle," it began in Curt's handwriting. "I am enclosing a three-year contract for you to sign. We plan to do three comedies a year—starting our new find, Freckle Bryan. I hope this will be a pleasant surprise for you."

"Mary tells me that she has told you our family secret. I trust you will keep it—and I am sure you will. We are leaving for Virginia tomorrow. Further than that I have no plans."

"Arnold Bernstein, my director, has been instructed to take over these contracts and plan your forthcoming productions. They tell me your work in 'Hi-De-Di' is surpassing our wildest hopes. This gives me great happiness—for your sake as well as ours."

"I shall never forget that, had it not been for your honesty and good heart, I would have wrecked not only my life, but the lives of several people. I hold more dear than my own. Believe me, I am forever in your debt."

"With kindest regards,"

"TOM SMITH SR."

"(Alias Curt Little!)"

In a little cottage at the turn of the road in Millstream, Va., Gloria

Smith sat with her husband's letter in her hand. She had read it until she knew every dear word by heart.

There came a knock at the door. She called softly:

"Come in."

It was the old station master—Jim Barkley. He walked in excitedly.

"Miss Smith—here's a telegram just come for you—from Tom—your husband. Gosh! They're comin' in on the next train from the west. Ain't things happenin' around here though. Can't tell me nothin' ever happens in this here tank town—"

Jim would have rambled on indefinitely. But Gloria took the telegram and dismissed him unceremoniously. She tore the message open with fingers that trembled.

"Arriving evening train. All my love. Tom."

She looked at the clock on the mantel above the old fireplace. Only a few minutes. And so much to do! A soft rosy flush stole over her pale face—to the roots of the hair that still remained gold as the day her husband had left her 20 years before.

Fervently she pulled herself in the wheelchair through the living room and into the bedroom to a small cedar chest that stood by her bed. With hands that fluttered she lifted from its lavender fragrance a little voile gown, yellowed with age.

In the soft light it looked almost new. She held it to her face for a moment, her brown eyes young and dancing with the light of old romance. Then with a gay little smile she slipped out the blue gingham house dress and into the gown that had meant to wear on her first wedding anniversary 20 years before.

Old memories came and brought a rosy glow to her cheeks. Once Tom had told her she was pretty as a dandelion in it. Silly Tom! Who wanted to look like a dandelion?

The train whistled in the distance.

SMALLEST CROP IN 20TH CENTURY

Grains Show Heavy Loss;
Wheat Listed at Less
Than 500,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—One of the smallest crops of grain harvested in the United States in this century was forecast today by the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture, which attributed the condition to drought through the middle west.

Its report, the August 1 conditions, indicated the second smallest corn crop since 1901, the smallest wheat crop since 1893 and an oats crop of about one-half of that last year.

The board said the drought had affected a larger area than that in 1930, practically the whole of the United States being injured as of July 1. The area in acute distress is smaller now, it added, being limited chiefly to the Panhandle of Texas, western Oklahoma and southwestern Kansas and to an area extending from central South Dakota into southwestern Minnesota.

"So far as can be told at this time with early grains now all threshed and late corn dependent on weather conditions for some months ahead, total grain production this year will be 16 per cent less than in any of the last 10 years and 24 per cent less than the average production during that period," the board said. "The low yields of food and feed crops will more than offset the fairly large carry-over of such products on farms and elsewhere and necessitate as close utilization of available supplies as in 1930 when similar conditions prevailed."

The indicated production of corn was placed at 2,273,019,000 bushels compared with 2,876,000,000 last year. The crop this year was listed on August 1, as 85.5 per cent of normal.

The wheat crop of all types was estimated at 490,671,000 bushels, more than 100,000,000 less than the amount of wheat normally required in this country for food, feed and seed.

This compares with a crop last year of 726,000,000 bushels. Winter wheat production was listed at 340,355,000 bushels and all spring wheat production at 150,316,000 bushels.

The board forecast the oats crop at 608,745,000 bushels, compared with 1,238,000,000 last year, and an average production from 1926 to 1930, of 1,190,000,000 annually.

The condition of the oats crop was rated as 45.7 per cent of normal, and the condition of all spring wheats 44.6 per cent of normal. The winter wheat yield per acre was estimated at 12.7 bushels per acre, based on reports from regions where the crop has been threshed.

The condition of the growing crops has created a situation where Havana establishments are afraid to have lights in their places at night because of the danger of trouble, the Atlantans reported. Everything is closed so tight that the ordinarily gay Cuban capital resembles a strict blue-law town on Sunday, they said.

In the party which went to the island Sunday on the Peninsula & Occidental steamer Florida, only to come right back when they found conditions approaching chaos, were Miss Leila Hill, of 2075 DeKalb avenue; Miss Edith Mitchell, of 1000 Peachtree street; Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 531 Ashby street, and Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lee, of 530 Moreland avenue.

"It was raining when we arrived, and there were no taxicabs at the dock," said Miss Minor in an interview at Tampa. "Bellhops carried our luggage to the hotel and bellhops served in the dining room, as there were no waiters. The roof garden was dark. The manager explained that he was afraid to turn on the lights because it might cause trouble."

Miss Hill, who formerly lived in Windsor, is an employee of Rich's shoe department. She left Saturday with others of the party for a three-day vacation visit to Havana and is due back home on Monday morning. The party Thursday night was planning to return to Atlanta.

Van M. Antonio, Tampa cigar manufacturer and banker, a passenger on the Florida, said that conditions are worse in Cuba than he has ever seen them, and that he certainly was glad to get back to the dear old U. S. A.

The Florida, reported that the ship carried no freight on her last two trips to and from Florida, and that only a few passengers were aboard on the last trip to Havana, most of them returning to Tampa without landing on Cuban soil.

That popular lyric of complete surprise, "My Oh, My," will be chanted by Janyne Fromm, attractive songstress, as the highlight of her program with Jacques Renard's orchestra and the Four Snow Queens over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST, from 8:30 to 8:45 o'clock tonight. Jane also will say musically "Goodnight, Sweetheart," and "More Than You Know."

The delightful overture to Mozart's comic opera, "The Impresario," opens the summer concert of light classics by the Columbia Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Howard Barlow, to be broadcast from 9 to 9:30 o'clock tonight over WGST and a coast-to-coast Columbia network.

Irvin S. Cobb, having spent a few days in his native town of Paducah, has a new batch of yarns in store. The first of these will be offered to the WABC-Columbia network and over WGST from 7 to 7:15 o'clock tonight.

Al Goodman has prepared two orchestral numbers, "Morning, Noon and Night" and the melodious "I've Told Every Little Star" from "Music in the Air."

A charming song seldom heard on the air—"Lovely Hour," from the motion picture, "Jenny Lind"—will be featured by Grace Moore during the party Thursday night with her broadcast with Lou Holtz and Lennie Hayton's orchestra over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST from 8 to 8:30 o'clock tonight. Lou Holtz, assisted by that irrepressible "strong" Benny (Shawwowsky) Baker, will interrupt the musical numbers with his comedy sketches.

Pedro de Cordoba, in the role of the "Voice of Friendly Philosophy," with Will Osborne and his orchestra, offer an unusually varied program for their broadcast at 8:45 o'clock this morning.

As a result, pay envelopes of employees were fatter this week and they are working on a 40-hour week. The R. J. Reynolds Company did not reduce wages during the depression. Officials did not disclose figures, but said a large number of employees had been added to their forces since August 1.

WIDOW IS ACCUSED IN ASHEVILLE DEATH

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 10.—(P)—Dr. J. L. Carroll, county coroner, began an inquest today into the mysterious death of T. Orr Glenn, former school teacher, whose lifeless body was found at the foot of a cliff near here Tuesday.

An examination disclosed that Glenn had been shot before his machine plunged over the cliff. Mrs. Louise Kilmer Glenn, his widow, is being held, charged with murder.

Sheriff Lawrence Brown, who swore out a warrant and arrested Mrs. Glenn late yesterday, said today he had questioned the woman for several hours about the death of her estranged husband.

The sheriff also questioned Miss Bob Glenn, daughter of the dead man.

Cuban Holidays of Atlantans Cut Short by Political Riots

Five Atlantans who went to Havana, Cuba, on a vacation tour only to run into the horrors of political rioting, returned yesterday.

Excitement of the growing riots has created a situation where Havana establishments are afraid to have lights in their places at night because of the danger of trouble, the Atlantans reported. TWO WIVES SEEK RIGHT TO MOURN AS FLYER'S WIDOW

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 10.—(P)—Legal action was threatened tonight as the climax of a public debate over the hier of a war-time aviator claimed in death by two disputing contenders to widowhood.

The body of Captain Edward F. M. Deeds, former royal flying corps member, who shot down eight enemy planes in combat, and who was killed in a crash in the orient, will be laid to rest here tomorrow—but the argument between Mrs. Betty Deeds and Mrs. Marie Deeds, who accompanied the body from China, have publicly and bitterly presented their claims.

The argument started when Mrs. Marie Deeds arrived a week ago at San Francisco with the body and was met by the other woman. It was resumed with vigor today when Mrs. Marie Deeds, escorted Deeds' casket, was met at the train by Mrs. Betty Deeds, who flew here yesterday from Los Angeles.

"He was my husband and you know it," asserted Mrs. Betty Deeds. "You left him and he married me," retorted Mrs. Marie Deeds. "You want money, insurance, whatever was left."

"Why shouldn't I? I was his wife seven years. You were with him in China four days," Mrs. Betty Deeds responded.

Mrs. Marie Deeds placed her arms about the flyer's mother, who was at the station.

"Leave me alone," the mother hobbled hysterically. "Go away, don't touch me. I don't even know you."

"I'm his real widow," said Mrs. Betty Deeds, taking up the argument where it had been interrupted. "You haven't any right in this at all."

"Is that so," shouted the other Mrs. Deeds, "and she waved what many in the group identified as an application for a pilot's license."

Marie Deeds, dressed in black with a trim little hat, was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. R. Shirley, of California. Mrs. Betty Deeds was dressed in white.

Marie Deeds asserts the aviator was divorced last January in Mexico from Betty Deeds and married her in China four days before the fatal crash. This Betty Deeds denies.

Entries are being received at contest headquarters, Harbison, Griffin & Short, 4 North Pryor street, or by telephone, Main 9100. Entries close Saturday noon.

First place trophy, a large silver loving cup, has been offered by John S. Black, and second place prize, a loving cup, by Johnny Stone.

Additional entries in the "Mr. Atlanta" contest to be held in connection with the state event, yesterday included Ralph Alvin Boyer and Honey Boy Snipes.

A trip to Chicago for the World's Fair will be awarded the winner of the "Miss Georgia" title and a suit of clothes will be given the men's winner by Stein.

Teethina Stops
Sour Decay In
Baby's Bowels

Teethina is more than a laxative. Aside from thoroughly, but gently evacuating baby's intestines, it purifies and sweetens the bowels; prevents food fermentation and stops decomposition of fecal matter in the entire intestinal tract. That is why Teethina gives such quick and remarkable relief in constipation, gas, indigestion, occasional diarrhoea and intestinal colic. Teethina contains no opiates and can be had at any drug store for only 30c.—(adv.)

HERE IS PROOF THAT THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION GETS DEFINITE RESULTS

Mr. Julian Harris,
Advertising Manager,
Atlanta Constitution,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Harris:

You will be glad to know that both our client, The Stone Baking Company and our organization are highly pleased with the results of participation in the Atlanta Constitution Jinky Contest. During the 13 weeks of this contest Atlanta retail grocers regularly asked for and used to good advantage hundreds of thousands of Jinky blanks and many thousands of Jinky receipts.

The best proof of the results is in the fact that the sale of Stone's Cakes increased during this Contest. This is noteworthy in that this increase resulted during the midsummer months which are usually marked by reduced cake consumption.

As you know, the Atlanta Constitution was the only Atlanta newspaper carrying Stone's Cake advertising.

Thanks for the splendid cooperation you gave us in this Contest which has enabled us to render a good service to our client.

With best wishes, I am

Very truly yours,
President

ATLANTANS PLEDGE SUPPORT TO NRA

ners, under the Stars and Stripes," Mr. Fisher said. "We must do for ourselves in our own way bigger things than fascism or socialism could do for us." He urged that business be run for as many hours as the public needs it, "but at the same time give the employee a chance to live with his family and give the starved man on the street a job where he can earn a living. We face not haphazard rugged individualism, but a partnership of the American people in a social evolution."

Act Has Many Teeth

In a voice that rang with conviction, Mr. Poland told the mass meeting that "it is the hope of the administration that this act can be administered without any show of force. However, the success of this plan does not hinge upon willing submission. The act has many teeth—a shark and its jaws are sharp and it can bite those of a dead turtle."

Reminding the audience that "we are busy writing codes of fair competition," Mr. Poland said "what we are doing is more important than that. We are writing conditions of business to restore purchasing power, and in that way, to bring about a better and a more equalized prosperity than we have ever enjoyed."

The NRA plan is economically sound, according to Mr. Poland, who suggested that "it is similar to a farmer using fertilizer in order to grow a better crop; it is also like spending money on a good advertising campaign to make better business for the future."

"When money is congested and jammed there is never any prosperity," Mr. Poland said. "Money has been congested. The NRA is to break that jam, and put money into circulation. The purpose of the administration is that those who benefit by better wages shall spend those wages and not hoard them."

"I warn you that the stores that do not remain open as many hours as they formerly did are working in direct conflict with the purpose of the NRA plan, and such stores are not entitled to come under the benefits of the blue eagle, and it won't be long before the blue eagle is taken away from them."

"Shouldn't Wait for Codes," Mr. Poland said. "There are certain businesses that have openly endorsed the president's emergency re-employment agreement, but have stated that they are waiting for their codes to be approved before taking any action. This is contrary to that agreement which specifically provides that they shall be promptly signed, and put into effect at once, and then to remain in effect until the permanent code has been approved."

"Great leadership requires and deserves great following. The president asks you to follow him, and to give every bit of the red-blooded patriotic enthusiasm in your body to make the NRA plan work. He asks you to hold the hot iron of patriotism and confidence while he welds them into a lasting prosperity. Back in the days when craftsmanship was in flower there was a saying that the helper who flinched when the hot iron was struck, and the sparks flew would never make a good blacksmith. President Roosevelt counts on your being a good helper."

Mr. Cram said that he has been requested by Mr. Robert to urge the people of Atlanta to get solidly behind the NRA. He spoke of the huge public works program now under way, and said that Mr. Robert hopes to have the plans ready to be placed before the cabinet within a week.

Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the executive committee of the First National bank, of Atlanta, and the Trust Company of Georgia, general chairman of the Chamber of Commerce NRA committee and former mayor of Atlanta, told the audience that "in the four great crises of American history we have had great leaders bring us through the trying times."

"First, it was Washington, and then Lincoln and next Wilson—and now by the grace of God, it is Franklin D. Roosevelt," Mr. Maddox said. "A president of the United States has never faced a crisis more calmly or courageously."

In giving a picture of the situation faced by the country, Mr. Maddox said that the national income has shrunk in five years from $85,000,000,000 to less than $40,000,000,000, and the national deficit has increased by $8,500,000,000, with price levels the lowest in history, and more than $800,000,000 in gold shipped to Europe and the balance of foreign trade reaching the vanishing point.

"Our people have been dismayed and discouraged and filled with despair," he said. "Reviewing the various acts of congress obtained by the president in his recovery program, Mr. Maddox said that 'the results have been magical, and we seemed once more on the road to better business, but we were moving too fast, anticipating prosperity before it got here. Business began to lag again, and President Roosevelt wisely saw the trouble, that the buying power of the people had gotten far behind. This was the fundamental cause of the depression. The president's plan is simple and fair, and although it may work a hardship at first, if all cooperate we will benefit from it.'"

Mr. Maddox said that he has seen Atlanta grow from a village of 30,000 persons to a great city of 300,000 population, and that "this city has passed successfully through some serious situations, but has never failed to do its part."

Congressman Robert Ramspeck spoke of the vicious circle of cutting employment and decreasing wages, and said that purchasing power has been destroyed, hence the depression. The recovery program already has had good effects, and public opinion will whip the greedy slackers into line, he said.

Mayor James T. Key said that "the people of Atlanta have never failed to do their duty when they understood that duty, and they will not fail now. I can give you that pledge."

on behalf of the citizens of Atlanta. "Unless we take hold of this situation, we will fall back into a much more desperate," the mayor said. "Unless this plan goes through, there will not be any business, jobs or pay checks." Referring to the new store hours set by him, Mayor Key said that the old plan of keeping open at any and all hours worked a horrible brutality on store managers that should not have been permitted, and the new plan allowed "a husband to be home for supper and let his children and play with them for the first time in years."

Mrs. John K. Ottley, wife of the president of the First National bank of Atlanta, urged Atlantans to "take a sporting chance and pitch in with the president and his aides."

A. Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, offered the pledge of full co-operation by workers, and charged that "some sweatshops are chiseling on the president, and they will have to get in line."

Ronald Ransom, vice president of the Fulton National bank of Atlanta, said that local relief money having almost run out, the federal emergency relief funds were appropriated to hold the depression in line until industry picks up under the NRA program.

Ivan Allen presided and introduced the speakers. Lewis Gordon read telegrams and letters of co-operation including those from United States Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. and Mrs. Oscar Palmour, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs.

The resolutions adopted unanimously by the mass meeting indorse the president's recovery program and pledge Atlanta's best efforts in carrying it out, urge every employer in Greater Atlanta coming under provisions of the NRA to sign the agreement at once as the most important immediate step in the vital movement, and appeal to every worker to support loyally his employer by giving the utmost in the way of honest and efficient labor.

Employers of the state Thursday continued to adopt the NRA voluntary code of compliance with the post-office Thursday, bringing the total to 2,784 issued to date. Pledges of agreement were received from 435 employers, affecting 9,860 employees, bringing the total of agreements to date to 14,861, affecting 89,930 employees.

W. L. Mitchell, district manager for the department of commerce, said interest in the president's recovery program was unabated and that through crowded highways Thursday seeking information and rulings on the agreements.

Activities in the campaign headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce continued Thursday with the regular force augmented by additional workers. Herbert E. Choate, president of the chamber, and ex-officio chairman of the committee, said public interest was mounting day by day.

Meanwhile, activities of various trade groups to adopt permanent codes of operation continued. Frank Sherill, president of the S. & W. Cafeteria, said adoption of the NRA program by Atlanta restaurants was awaiting approval of the national code at Washington. He said there is no argument over wages and additional employees but that adjustments must be made for restaurants which work on 18 and 24-hour schedules.

Ed Venable, another restaurant proprietor, represented the Atlanta eaterymen at a code conference in Washington last week.

In connection with the NRA, the DeKalb county emergency relief fund will be discussed at a meeting of citizens of the county to be held at the Lithonia school auditorium at 7:45 o'clock tonight.

Among the trade meetings to be held today will be the assembly of cleaners and dyers from southern states at the Audley hotel roof.

J. R. Ridley, president of the National Association of Cleaners and Dyers, will be the principal speaker.

Falling in line with the general trend toward NRA indorsement, the current issue of the City Builder, Chamber of Commerce official organ, is dedicated to the program. The front cover carries a small reproduction of the NRA blue eagle and a quotation from the voluntary code.

Much of the written content concerns the president's recovery program.

The Atlanta Colored Merchants Association announced Thursday that members will abide by the policy of the NRA in accordance with hours of operation and the NRA.

DECATUR, EAST POINT MEETINGS BACK PLAN
Mass meetings at which merchants and business men attending pledged their support to the NRA were held Thursday night in Decatur and in East Point, with prominent NRA workers making addresses.

Among the speakers at Decatur at the courthouse were George Everett Murphy Candler Jr., Dr. W. S. Ekins Jr., Claude C. Blount and Judge Frank Guess, of the Decatur city court. Clyde Walker, manager of the Fulton National Bank of Decatur, presided. It was planned to appoint in the near future a committee to investigate business houses to see how the NRA is being carried out.

Harold Sheets, lawyer, explained the purpose of the NRA at East Point at the meeting presided over by J. E. Huggie, president of the East Point Chamber of Commerce. Other speakers were Mayor Howard L. Carmichael, Mrs. Annie R. Humphreys, Professor James G. McGee, of Russell High school, and J. M. Harkins, secretary of the East Point Chamber of Commerce. Merchants said they would support the program wholeheartedly.

MAN SERIOUSLY CUT RESISTING HOLDUP
Stabbed by two negroes when he resisted a holdup, W. C. Adams, 30, of near Stone Mountain, was admitted to hospital in a serious condition late Thursday night, according to hospital attaches and police reports.

Adams said two negroes robbed him of $1.50 on the Edgewood avenue bridge and that he attacked them when he saw they had no guns. Both negroes, however, carried knives, and Adams was seriously cut in the abdomen, face and about the arms. The negroes escaped.

39 States To Vote On Repeal in 1933

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The nation's quick-shifting repeal map today showed possibilities that 39 states will ballot well before next November on the question of whether prohibition is or is not to continue.

Rounding off a week of major wet-and-dry developments, Governor Ruby Laffoon, of Kentucky, today called a special session of the legislature for August 18, to vote on submitting the eighteenth amendment.

A few hours earlier Governor O. K. Allen, of Louisiana, confirmed a statement that a special session of the state legislature would be called for the same purpose. Allen set no date.

Should both states vote before the year's end, however, the total ballot would reach 39 as a minimum. Ratifications by 36 are necessary for repeal.

Arizona's vote for repeal by a three-to-one majority earlier in the week brought to 21 the states that have spoken without a break for abolition of the dry law.

The absolute certainty that at least 37 states will vote this year was sealed today when Governor Henry H. Blood, of Utah, issued a proclamation calling an election November 7 to record that state's position.

SHOWERS WILL FAIL TO LOWER MERCURY

Partly cloudy weather with occasional light showers will visit Atlanta today, according to George W. Mindling, United States meteorologist.

Temperatures will be slightly higher today, with the maximum probably 93 degrees, the weatherman said. Thursday's maximum was 91 degrees. The minimum this morning probably will be 73 degrees, the same as on Thursday, Mr. Mindling said.

MISSISSIPPI BALE SELLS FOR 20.35
GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Mississippi's first 1933 bale of cotton brought 20.35 cents per pound, including premiums today. It was sold at the Greenville Cotton Exchange to the J. R. Hodge Cotton Company, of this city.

The bale, weighing 645 pounds, was brought to Greenville today from the Percy Lee Bell Highland plantation, and placed in front of the cotton exchange while sealed bids were filed with J. G. Lusk.

The cotton, which is 3-16 inch middling grade and was ginned at Metcalfe, brought Bell $131.27, including premiums totaling $50. Six bids were submitted.

He later was exiled during the brief regime of Carlos Davila, but returned when Davila lost power some months ago.

and other companies, Clark said the section of the law providing to labor the right to organize and bargain collectively was contrary to constitutional rights under supreme court decisions.

He contended that by agreeing to the code containing that provision the manufacturers would waive their constitutional rights.

This statement itself was challenged sternly by Sidney Hillman, one of Johnson's labor advisers, who labeled the criticism "the most outrageous statement to be made by anyone at any of the hearings."

Other Developments.
Among other developments of the day: 1. A revised draft of a code for the oil industry, now being prepared by the recovery administration, was understood in informed quarters to be nearing completion.

2. With a specific reservation against "unsatisfactory wage and rate schedules," Johnson approved a modified re-employment agreement for laundry owners.

It provided minimum wages ranging from 20 cents an hour in the south to 27 1-2 cents in the north and stipulated a previous agreement approved and then annulled by Johnson because it fixed a 14-cent-an-hour minimum for women in the south.

3. Modified wage and hour agreements for the confectionery manufacturing and grain terminal warehouse industries, permitting complying members to obtain the blue eagle, were promulgated.

4. A report from the deputy administrator upon the lumber codes, hearings on which were held several weeks ago, was almost ready for submission to Johnson, who will send it to President Roosevelt if he approves.

5. Formulation of a copper code, under discussion between spokesmen for the industry and administration officials.

6. The administration reiterated in response to a query that all public utilities, except those publicly owned, come within the scope of the NRA.

U. S. MONEY ORDERED FOR ST. PETE TAXES

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A temporary restraining order, forbidding the city of St. Petersburg or its agents to accept bonds, matured interest coupons, or anything except "lawful money of the United States" in payment of 1931 taxes, was filed in federal court here today by Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter, of Miami.

The action was brought by a group of majority bondholders on the grounds that they were being deprived of property without due process of law, and that the obligations of their contracts were being impaired.

The temporary order is to remain in force pending the outcome of a hearing on an interlocutory injunction to be held in Jacksonville Monday at 10 o'clock. Three judges are to sit on the case.

A few hours earlier Governor O. K. Allen, of Louisiana, confirmed a statement that a special session of the state legislature would be called for the same purpose. Allen set no date.

Must Be Analyzed.
Pushing the move to get additional temporary agreements into effect, officials said that upon the physical capacity of the NRA depended largely the date upon which consumers could be asked to patronize blue eagle firms.

All of the agreements, it was pointed out, are prepared by skilled hands and before every temporary approval of wages and hours can be given they must be carefully analyzed despite the desire for speed.

Until every employer who seeks to cooperate has been heard and his application for a temporary wage and hour scale acted upon, officials said it would create injustice to proceed with the campaign.

Donald R. Richberg, general counsel of the administration, estimated that this phase of the recovery campaign could be completed before September 1 and then active work would be centered upon the permanent codes reaching not only wages and hours but fair practices.

REPORTED MAROONED NEW 'LEAD' REPORTED IN SANBORN MURDER

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The coast guard plane Antares took off from the guard air station here at 3:20 p. m. today to investigate a report that nine men, two either dead or dying, were marooned on one of the islands of the Ten Thousand group on the lower west coast of Florida.

Information given to the police was that on the day Sanborn disappeared he was on his way to look at a house he considered buying for his intended bride, Miss Magnhilde Almskar.

Fred Brown, a business associate of Sanborn, said the railroad mentioned the inspection of a house Great Neck, Long Island, just before he left his lower Broadway office July 17. He was never seen again until his body, with two bullet wounds in his chest, was found in a shallow grave Saturday.
